DEBATE PROBE AUTHORITY IN U. S. ELECTION

North Carolina Democrats Considering Court Battle on Problem

HOLD TWO VIEWPOINTS Claim Broad Powers—Opponents Deny Rights
Until After Election

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1930, By Post Pub. Co.
Washington (CPA)—News from North Carolina that the Democrats there are considering a battle in the courts to determine the jurisdiction of the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures is raising some interesting questions as to the rights of the senate itself with respect to elections.

While the constitution gives each state legislature the right to prescribe the manner of holding elections congress may alter such regulations at any time. The fact, however, is that congress has not made any law governing primary elections, either as to the amount of money that may be spent or as to what the qualifications of a candidate shall be.

The rights of all investigating committees are derived from the fact that congress may wish to know the facts in order to legislate. The question whether a candidate can be barred from the senate because of facts uncovered in an investigation has already been passed upon by the senate in the cases of William Vane of Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith of Illinois, but nobody has ever tested in the courts the power of the senate to bar a candidate because of undesirable activities in a primary campaign.

Members of the senate have defended themselves on the ground that they have broad powers to judge of the qualifications of members and this extends to the character and integrity of the candidate as well as to the method used in winning an election.

ANOTHER VIEWPOINT Opposed to this line of reasoning is the view expressed by the school of thought which holds that the actions of a party organization in a convention, or the vote of party members in a primary is wholly outside of any power of the United States senate or of the qualifications of representatives.
It is contended for example that a candidate does not actually apply for admission to the United States senate until after the general election, and hence the contention is made that

COACH WILLIAM ROPER BACKS PINCHOT'S FOE

Philadelphia (AP)—William W. Roper, city councilman and Princeton university football coach, today joined the Philadelphia Republican ward leaders who have bolted the candidacy of Gifford Pinchot, Republican, and gone over to John M. Hemphill, the Democratic-liberal party candidate for governor.

In a statement, Roper said he favored Hemphill because he is advocating the repeal of the national prohibition amendment and modification of the so-called Sunday blue laws. He referred to Pinchot as a "fanatical dry."

Roper directed Pinchot's campaign in Philadelphia in 1922 when Pinchot ran for governor.

6,000 TAKE PART IN KNIGHT TEMPLAR FETE

Madison (AP)—Nearly 6,000 marching men, dressed in full Knight Tem-plar uniform, were to parade through Madison streets today as the feature of the commandery's convention here. The convention attendance was to be swelled to 7,000 tonight by two special trains from Milwaukee.

DISORDERS TO CLOSE BARCELONA UNIVERSITY

Madrid (AP)—The government announced this afternoon that it would close the University of Barcelona because of disorders which occurred there today in the course of which several hundred students burned a portrait of King Alfonso.

SHOT DOWN IN MISSOURI AS HE DRAWS GUN

Long Sought for Lamar, Colo., Bank Holdup and Shooting of Official

Branson, Mo. (AP)—A man identified as "Jake" Fleagle, long sought as the leader of the gang which robbed the First National bank of Lamar, Colo., May 23, 1928, in a bloody holdup in which four were killed, was shot and wounded probably fatally by Kansas City detectives and federal government officers here today.

The man was shot as he attempted to board a Missouri-Pacific train at the station here. He had purchased a ticket for Hollister, another southern Missouri Ozarks resort town, a short distance from here.

The Kansas City officers had been sent here on information stating Fleagle was hiding in the hill country.

The party included E. H. Klein, postal inspector from Los Angeles, Police Lieutenant Lloyd of Los Angeles, and Lieut. E. L. Nelson and Ollie V. King of the Kansas City detective department.

They arrived from Kansas City
this morning and saw the man identified as Fleagle entering the chair car of the train from which they were about to alight.

Witnesses said the man attempted to draw a pistol and had it half way out of its holster when he was shot.
The prisoner was discovered to have a gunshot wound in his right wrist which apparently had been inflicted within the last ten days, the physician said.

Barto Loses His Right To Practice Law

Neenah Attorney Disbarred
by Decision of Wisconsin
Supreme Court

Madison, (AP)—Glen W. Barto, Neenah attorney, was disbarred by the state supreme court here today.
The decision came after recommendation of E. C. Fiedler, Beloit, referee.

Mr. Fiedler recommended a fine of $250 and left the way open for the court to decide disbarment.

Chief Justice Rosenberry, who wrote the opinion, said the case rested on attorney-client relationships.

"Disloyalty to a client is evidence of a dull and degraded moral sense," he wrote. "If it cannot be said that it transcends in moral obliquity a breach of his obligations and duties in other relations, it subjects the lawyer to greater censure and more condemnation because his duty is so much more easily and readily discernable."

The disbarment was based on nine counts, of which five were discussed in the referee's recommendations.
Two dealt with Barto's service to two clients against another. A third related to a mortgage, while a fourth dealt with Barto claiming fees in excess of half the sale of some stock.
This count was said by the referee to show "a disproportionate charge another, where Barto charged the equivalent to $250 a day in a divorce case. In an accident case, Barto is alleged to have failed to fulfill requirements as a guardian to a minor."

DEATH AFTER CAR CRASHES

Milwaukee Resident in Critical Condition in Wau-paca Hospital

William Palecek, 21, 3215 North-ave, Milwaukee is near death in Christofferson Brothers' hospital, Waupaca, from injuries received in an automobile accident on Highway 10 about two miles northwest of Fremont shortly after 9 o'clock
Monday evening. Palecek has a compound fracture of the skull and severe lacerations of the face and body. Physicians entertained little hope for his recovery.

Palecek and Miss Allen Noyes, 180-13th-st., Milwaukee, were on their way to their home city from Wau-paca when the crash occurred. Wau-paca-co authorities said they believe Palecek went to sleep at the wheel.
The machine went over an embankment on the left side of the road, turned over, and the rear end of it crashed into a telegraph pole, breaking it off at the base. Miss Noyes escaped with a few scratches and cuts from flying glass.

The couple was pinned under the wreckage for an hour and a half before a passing motorist extricated them and took them to a Wauwegaga physicians office. Palecek had not regained consciousness Tuesday noon.

SEEK MAN MISSING FROM HOME SINCE LAST SUNDAY NIGHT

Sheriff John Lappen was asked Tuesday morning to begin a search for Clarence Schimmel, 21, 217 S. Story-st., who disappeared early Sunday night and has not been seen or heard of since.
Schimmel's father, who also lives at 217 S. Story-st., requested the sheriff to start looking for the young man, whose wife is in St.
Elizabeth hospital.

The elder Schimmel told the sheriff that the boy had taken a friend to his home early Sunday evening. The friend said Schimmel left him, saying he intended to go "straight home."

Schimmel is about six feet tall, weighs 185 pounds, and has dark eyes and dark hair. He wore a brown suit when he disappeared and was driving a Plymouth coupe.

REDS BARRED WHILE LABOR HOLDS CONFAB

More Than Dozen Arrested After Battle at Doors of
A. F. L. Convention

GREEN RAPS RIOTERS
Believes "Poor, Misguided Group Receives Its Orders from Moscow"

Boston (AP)—Communists and police engaged in a hand to hand battle outside the convention hall of the American Federation of Labor today.

The disorder started when police attempted to break up a demonstration by the Communists, after having denied them admittance to the Hotel Bradford, in which the Federation of Labor sessions are being held.

When police arrested one speaker, who tried to address the crowd, other Communists attempted to rescue him.

A furious struggle then ensued between the crowd of Communists and police. Police reserves sped to the aid of the police detail at the hotel and a number of Communists were taken away in patrol wagons.

Police commandeered a taxicab to carry other Communists to a nearby police station. One taxicab was almost captured by the mob, which leaped upon its running boards and nearly succeeded in rescuing a prisoner within.

LABOR UNPERTURBED
While the battle was at its height, the business of the federation convention, continued uninterrupted although some of the more curious delegates watched the struggle from balcony windows.

"During the melee, police used their clubs freely. Mounted police arrived a few moments after the trouble began and were particularly effective against the militant Communists."

A number of women were included in the Communists ranks and their screens added to the general confusion. Traffic on Tremont-st at the point was paralyzed and a crowd of several thousand filled the street.

When the Communists finally were dispersed, after fully 20 minutes of fighting, the number actually arrested was estimated at between 12 and 20.

KNEW OF PLANS
Police had advance warning of the demonstration in hand bills circulated freely last week, calling upon the militant workers of Boston to join in a mass demonstration outside the Federation of Labor convention hall today.

When the convention opened today police were stationed outside the hotel and in the corridors leading to the convention hall. The sidewalks for a block in each direction were kept clear and it appeared for a time that the anticipated demonstration would not materialize.

Shortly before noon, however, the Communists marched to the hotel and, after an unsuccessful attempt to enter the building a speaker mounted a truck before Communists had stationed in a nearby square and began a speech. He was immediately arrested and the battle ensued.

A number of women in the Communists ranks carried large placards on which were painted crudely such phrases as "Vote Communist," and "We want unemployment insurance."

"Green and Hoover say: No insurance for the jobless; no strikes against wage cuts," was another of the banners carried.

A large crowd remained outside the hotel after the fight between the Communists and police had ended,
but police kept everyone moving.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, expressed regret at the disturbance.
"I am sorry it occurred," he said.
"However, it was an exhibition of the fixed policy of the Communists in America to deliberately incite violence, street uprisings, and to arouse feeling and passion."

"No doubt this poor, misguided group received its orders from Moscow."

Delegates to the federation awaited the legislative committee's report on anti-injunction legislation as sessions were resumed today after a three day recess.

The executive council, in its report to the convention, favored a bill prepared by a judiciary sub-committee of the U. S. senate, which, the council reported, would "give labor the same protection as is now given organizations of employers."

Opposition to the proposed bill came from Andrew Furuseth, delegate of the International Seamen's union, who said that he would oppose it on the convention floor if the legislative committee supported the executive council's stand.

A resolution supporting a senate bill granting pensions to men who manned ships engaged in transportation of troops and supplies during ippine insurrection and the Chinese

JUNEAU CO CASE LEADS TO ASSAULT HEARING

Madison (AP)—An apparent offshoot of the bitterness in Juneau-co had its climax here yesterday as Allie, Gerald and John Sullivan, all of Lisbon in Juneau-co, were arraigned for assaulting two officers.

The three men were charged with assaulting E. F. Smith, Madison, federal prohibition officer, and Edwin Kuska, Juneau-co deputy sheriff. The officers claim to have seized a still on the Sullivan premises and a quantity of alcohol, which disappeared during the altercation.

Allie Sullivan testified in behalf of Lyall T. Wright, former Juneauco sheriff, who was acquitted of first degree murder charges growing out of the slaying of Clinton
G. Price, district attorney. John Sullivan testified against Price in his trial here last March when he was acquitted of conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition law.
Kuska played leading part in the prosecution of Wright.

The men appeared before Frank R. Bentley, U. S. commissioner, and were released on bond.

GAME WARDENS WIN IN LINE OF DUTY

A state conservation warden, killed in line of duty, today was joint winner of a case in the state supreme court. He is Elmer Johnson, who was killed May 17, 1929, near Ladysmith while attempting to arrest Amos Maisio, Finland, Minn., for alleged violation of conservation laws. Maisio was found guilty of third degree manslaughter and is serving a seven-year term in the state prison at Waupun.

With Edward Appel, the warden appealed from a decision by Circuit Judge James Wickham, Chippewaco, awarding James Juska, Jr., damages of $1,750. The claim was based on false arrest and assault and battery.

Justice Fowler, who wrote the opinion, interpreted that Kuska had violated the law, the warden could make the arrest without a warrant and they could overpower the man to arrest him. The case was reversed on all questions.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM VICTORIES IN BRAZIL

Rebels Reported Driven Out of Western Minas Geraes
After Struggle

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
News from Brazil today showed that government soldiers and rebel troops were doing more fighting than at any time since the rebellion broke, especially along the Paranaso Paulo border and in the southwest portion of Minas Geraes.

Dispatches differed as to the victories, depending on which side issued the details, but indications are that the rebels have been driven out of the western Minas Geraes triangle and have had some reverses in the Parana campaign. The federals asserted that 15 rebels were found dead after a battle at Senes bridgehead, Parana, with many others wounded. The federals also claimed to have captured Igarapava bridgehead, on the Rio Grande just below
the Sao Paulo-Minas Geraes border, and to have wiped the rebels out of western Minas Geraes by taking Uberaba.

They also took two important tunnels in South Minas Geraes.

MRS. HILL WINS FOR BERNICE WALL, 4 AND 3

Los Angeles Country Club, Los Angeles (AP)—Continuing her steady play, Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, medalist, defeated Miss Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., 4 and 3 today in a first round match of the 1930 Women's National Amateur Golf championship.

BANDITS GET LIFE TERMS FOR SLAYING

Quick Justice in Michigan
Sends Two to Prison 12 Hours After Capture

Centerville, Mich. (AP)—Only a little more than 12 hours following their capture after the killing of a state policeman and the robbery of a bank at Battle Creek, Thomas Martin, 30, and James Gallagher, 28, were sentenced in circuit court here today to life imprisonment in Jackson prison. They pleaded guilty to murder charges.

"State Trooper John Burke" was shot and killed by the pair when he overtook them as they attempted to escape to Indiana in an automobile after robbing the East End branch of the Old Merchants Trust and Savings bank at Battle Creek.

They were captured later near the Indiana state line by other state troopers when their automobile was overheated and they abandoned it, starting by foot down a highway.

The $4,000 loot, was recovered, according to their confessions. Martin fired the three shots which struck Trooper Burke in the neck, causing instant death. Burke, they said, overtook them on his motorcycle. They halted, Burke approached the car on foot and started questioning them. Gallagher, who was driving, drew his pistol. Burke batted it aside and Martin, drawing his gun, killed the trooper.

For the first time, bank robbers matched their wits with the new state police radio system, and lost.
Less than four hours after the bank robbery was reported, 35 police cars, their cars receiving instructions by radio, were concentrated in the Sturgis area. Within little more than four hours, the slayers were under arrest.

WILBUR TO RETAIN POST AS INTERIOR SECRETARY

Washington (AP)—President Hoover announced today that Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, would remain in this position and that Leland Stanford University would extend his leave of absence as president as long as is necessary.

Commenting on a statement in the Stanford Daily, a college publication, that the board of trustees of the institution had decided to request the secretary to return to his duties as president or resign to permit the naming of a successor, the president said Dr. Wilbur was too valuable a man to lose out of the government service.

"As one of the trustees of Leland Stanford," the president added, "I can speak with more authority than a student publication."

BULLET FATAL TO MAN IN ONTARIO SHOOTING

Sparta (AP)—A charge from a father's gun to avenge the slaying of his son, was fatal last night to George Fish, 24, Ontario, Wis.

Fish and Alva Strachan, farmer,
"shot it out" in the latter's kitchen
after Fish had fired several shots at the farmer and had killed his 7-year-old son, Virgil, who was sleeping on a cot nearby.

Fish had been brought into the farm home by Strachan after the farmer heard noise around his chicken house, investigated and captured one of two marauders.

Straight was wounded but is expected to be able to "hold it" at an inquest over the body of his son and that of Fish next Monday.

NATIONWIDE HUNT FOR FLEAGLE

Lamar, Colo. (AP)—William Harrison (Jake) Fleagle, reported shot and killed at Branson, Mo., today, was one of the most sought after criminals in the United States.

He was hunted by police throughout the country and the search for him extended into Mexico but he managed to elude capture for more than two years following the holdup of the First National bank here May 23, 1928, which resulted in the killing of four men.

Three of Fleagle's companions in the robbery of the bank are dead, having been executed in this state.
The trio—Ralph E. Fleagle, brother of Jake; Howard L. Royston and George J. Absher—were convicted of slaying A. N. Parrish, president of the bank and one of the two men shot down as they attempted to thwart the holdup.

All three were hanged in July at the state penitentiary in Canon City.
Jake Fleagle was implicated in the robbery of the bank and the subsequent murders, two of which took place in Kansas while posing scoun-ders "hundreds of miles" of western Kansas and eastern Colorado "bad lands" for a trace of the bandits, by his brother in a confession made at Colorado Springs a year ago last July.

The confession led to the arrest of Royston and Absher, the former in California and the latter at Grand Junction, Colo.

Powers-co jurists found the thrug-gledy of murder in the first degree and sentenced them to hang a year ago this month and the state supreme court upheld the convictions.

The murders with which the bandit quartet was charged with were those of the bank president, his son,
J. F. Parrish, Dr. W. W. Wineinger of Dighton, Kas., and E. A. Kesling, bank teller who was kidnapped to discourage pursuit.

FAIL TO CAPTURE PAIR WHO FLED FROM JAIL

Stevens Point (AP)—At noon today officers had no trace of Earl Strache, 24, and Alex Czechos, 26, who escaped from the Portage-co jail by sawing out two bars in a rear corridor.

They ran water into one of the sinks nearby to cover the noise of their sawing last night during the supper hour.

Czechos, held in default of $1,000 bail on a larceny charge, was one of three men who escaped from the jail in July. Strache was also held for want of $1,000 bail on a charge of operating several cars without the consent of the owner.

WOMAN KILLED, 9 HURT IN ONTARIO COLLISION

Windsor, Ont. (AP)—A woman was killed and nine other persons were injured in a collision between a street car and an 1824 Windsor interurban in Windsor at 745 s. m. today. The collision occurred at an intersection of St. Patrick and Monroe in a dense fog. Neither motorist was able to see more than a car length ahead. The woman has not been identified.

Horace A. Richard, motorman of the interurban is in a critical condition. None of the other victims was critically injured.

ROYAL WEDDING DATE NOT FAR OFF, BELIEF

Sofia, Bulgaria (AP)—There was evidence today that the marriage of King Boris III and Princess Giovanna of Italy might take place in the very near future.

Preparations are being hurried for departure for Italy of a state delegation composed of presidents of the council and the senate and guardian of the privy seals. Likewise departs is imminent of the king's brother, Prince Cyril and his sister, Princess Tuxodina.

The palace at Buchinograd, near Varna, is being fitted for residence of the new queen, as also are the other royal residences. The steam yacht "Ferdinand" at Varna is being made ready to carry a military detachment of honor to Italy to participate in the wedding celebrations.

TO RUSH CONSTRUCTION ON HOOVER DAM PROJECT

Washington (AP)—President Hoover said today that construction work on Hoover dam would proceed as rapidly as possible.

At the same time the chief executive asserted that so far as the government is concerned settlement of the points of law raised by the state of Arizona would be expedited.

He expressed a hope that in the meantime the various states concerned would get together and settle their difficulties.

SECOND FISHERMEN'S RACE AGAIN CALLED OFF

Gloicester, Mass. (AP)—The second race of the international fisherman's series between the Nova Scotia schooner Bluenose and the Gloucester fisherman Gertrude L. Thebaud was called off for the third time today because of light winds.

WOMAN BANDIT PUT ON PROBATION AT MADISON

Madison (AP)—Mrs. William Schlotthauer, 27, who yesterday was sentenced to serve five years in the women's reformatory after confessing she stole $5 in a filling station holdup, was placed on probation today by Judge S. B. Schein. Mrs.
Schlotthauer said she took the money while her husband was having his automobile filled with gasoline.
She also confessed forging two checks.

WOUNDED GANG LEADER SUMMONS CLERGYMAN

New York (AP)—Detectives who have stood guard at the hospital bedside of Jack Diamond, racketeer and gang leader, since he was brought there Sunday with five bullet wounds in his body, quit his room today and stood in a corridor while the wounded man received the ministrations of a clergyman.

The cleric arrived at the hospital about 11:30 this morning and his coming, although unexpected by officers or by hospital authorities, was taken as an indication that Diamond believed himself to be dying.

Doctors had reported an hour or so earlier that Diamond had passed a fair night and that his condition, while grave, was one from which he might rally. He was definitely weaker today than yesterday, when he seemed to be making a rapid gain after his shooting in a west side hotel room.

PACKERS CITE REPORTS IN NON-MONOPOLY PLEA

Washington (AP)—Evidence showing the wide dissemination of livestock market reports to newspapers was submitted in the District of Columbia supreme court today by counsel for the meat packers in their effort to prove unfounded charges that the packers were controlling market information.

This was one of several charges made by the government in 1929 against the packers and later a consent decree sharply limiting their activities was entered into.

Armour and Company and Swift and Company are now seeking modification of the decree to enable them to retail meats and other food

This Is Good Time To Get In Touch With Plumber

It rained Monday, and the thought of water was enough to send the scribe scurrying out to find information about plumbing.
"It might be," they said before he left, "a good idea for you to learn about bathtubs."

"I never used a bathtub," returned the scribe cheerfully, "but I had a shower Saturday night."

"Oh yeah?" but by that time
the scribe was gone.

The prices of plumbing fixtures in enameled iron are down from ten to fifteen per cent on an average. This, of course, covers a large number of items. China-finished fixtures hold to about their former price.

In piping and labor, the cost remains about the same with a slight drop in a few instances of the former.

There is practically no possibility of prices in any division dropping lower. Manufacturers are holding back until the national trend warrants production, and at such a time, demand is likely to exceed supply, with the natural consequences.

From this the scribe was easily able to see that now is the economical time in which to install new plumbing fixtures.

Rollers and radiators are still down in price and can be installed before cold weather gets in at admirable savings to the home-owner. Whether these heating units can be obtained as reasonably later on is problematical, depending upon how soon the national demand for the products reaches normal or at least increases.

Ergo — (which is a nice Latin word the scribe picked up somewhere) now is the time to see the plumbing expert.

The scribe has for a long time wanted a bathtub installed in his room — not only for baths, but as a convenient place to leave his clothes at night so that he can find them in the morning, and as a spare bed when company comes.

But the bathtub was entirely too heavy to carry away, not to mention any objections which the dealer might have had.

Morrow Will Support Hoover In 1932, He Declares

AT ODDS WITH HIM ONLY ON U. S. DRY LAW

Borah Emphasizes Rift Between Dry Insurgents and Eastern Leaders

Washington (AP)—Two of the "strong men" of the Republican party, Dwight Morrow of New Jersey, and William E. Borah of Idaho, have given the country an illuminating peep behind the scenes of the big political show in 1932.

It was the wet Morrow who declared last night he hoped to vote again for Herbert Hoover in 1932. It was the dry Borah who challenged those who are trying to remove from the picture a figure already trailed by his friends as a possible candidate against Hoover—Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

Morrow himself has been mentioned as a presidential possibility two years hence. His overwhelming nomination for the senate on a party call for rejection of prohibition put him into the category of conceded leadership among Republican vets. His declaration for Hoover, however, in no wise surprised the president's circle of political advisers. They had expected such a pronouncement at the proper time, and Mr. Morrow picked a time when, within a few days, several dry leaders had forecast his nomination over Hoover in the next Republican national convention.

Morrow repeatedly had labeled himself a regular. Although he disagreed with the Hoover platform on prohibition, he praised the president's economic policies. By so much, he has weakened any threat that serious opposition to a renomination for the president will come from the wet eastern wing of the party.

BORAH POINTS TO RIFT

Borah's statement mentioned neither President Hoover nor 1932, but it emphasized again the rift between the dry western insurgents and outstanding party leaders of the east.

Pinchot became the Republican nominee for governor of Pennsylvania over the opposition of several of these leaders, and a considerable number have bolted the ticket. Among them is W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and until recently Republican national committeeman. A defeat for the governorship might conceivably remove Pinchot as a presidential possibility, and a victory in the present circumstances would hearten his friends to offer him as a leader of the insurgents everywhere.

Into this situation Borah fired a warning shot in the form of a suggestion that a senate committee might investigate whether the public utilities of Pennsylvania were spending money to defeat Pinchot. Thus he raised an issue over raised before by such western leaders as Senator Norris and the LaFollettes. He said he had been in communication with some of the Pennsylvania Republicans. What that communication may have amounted to he did not disclose, but he at least put his party on notice that the west was not letting the Pennsylvania situation pass unnoticed.

Further developments on the Pennsylvania front are expected by the politicians, whose attention is turned momentarily from the possibility of a wet eastern Republican revolt to the activities that ever-engaging group of which Senator Borah is a charter member.

CATTLE JUDGING STARTED AT SHOW

Jerseys to Be Ranked at National Dairy Exhibition at St. Louis

St. Louis (AP)—The first cattle judging, other than in the 4-H club division started at the National Dairy show at the Arena here today, beginning with the Jerseys, which have the second largest entries of any breed in the show. There are more than 300 Jerseys entered, representing 21 states and Canada. J. W. Ridgway of Fort Worth, Texas, is judging the Jerseys.

Missourians are taking particular pride in the Jerseys, since the first Missouri Jersey to establish a world's butterfat record is in the show. She is Observer's Queen, a junior 2-year-old, whose record of 677.42 pounds of butterfat on a 305-day test has never been equaled by a cow of any age. Observer's Queen is owned by Longview farm of Lee Summit, Mo., one of the model farms of the state, established by Robert Alexander Long, multi-millionaire lumber magnate of Kansas City. Observer's Queen was imported from the Isle of Jersey.

Another world's record Jersey is in the show, and she, too, is the first world's champion Jersey from her state. She is Mary Lucille Bess, owned by Rolfsmeier Brothers, Seward, Neb. She holds the record for milk and butterfat production by a senior 2-year-old. This cow is Nebraska bred as well as owned.

The American Jersey Cattle club will hold its annual meeting here tonight, with Sam F. Crabbe of Fargo, N. D., the principal speaker. Today will see the windup of 4-H club and vocational agricultural students' activities. Cattle judging, dairy and poultry demonstrations and a showmanship contest were on the 4-H program today.

Port Chester, N. Y.—Clarence De Mar, who in 21 years has competed in 49 marathon runs, has hung up his eighteenth victory. He is 42 years old.

JAP SHIPPING SUFFERS IN BANDITS' ATTACKS

Hankow, China (AP)—Japanese consular authorities today issued a statement asserting Japanese shipping on the Yangtze, both commercial and naval, has suffered sharply from repeated attacks by Communist shore batteries.

The statement said that within three days three Japanese commercial vessels and two gunboats navigating in the vicinity of Hankow have suffered such attacks. The vessels escaped serious damage.

Gambler Is Shot Down By Assassin

Chicago (AP)—Dave Emmett, 35, whose career had been wrapped for many years in politics and gambling, lost a race with an assassin's bullet late last night.

A man jumped to the running board of a parked automobile at the wheel of which sat Emmett. The man, pistol in hand, cursed Emmett and shouted: "I'm going to let you have it!"

Emmett, who appeared to recognize the man, shouted to Stephen Platon, his companion in the car, to "duck." The gambler then leaned forward and threw the car into gear in an effort to hurl the gunman off the running board. At the same time, the man fired.

The bullet entered Emmett's body under the left arm and penetrated his heart.

The automobile, its driver dead, rolled across the sidewalk and into a fence. Platon jumped out and the gunman ran to a car in which two companions waited, and was driven away.

The shooting was in front of Emmett's home. The killer's car had been parked across the street for several hours. Its occupants apparently awaiting the return of Emmett. Platon had entered Emmett's machine at the garage several blocks away, for the purpose of driving it back after Emmett had been taken home.

Emmett and his brother, Frank, were reputed owners of an elaborate gambling place in the 4700 block on Cottage Grove-ave. Formerly the brothers were partners in the operation of the Delta Winter club, called the largest gambling resort in Chicago. The place was bombed three times during the time the Emmetts were part owners.

INTERNATIONAL DAY HELD BY LUTHERANS

Appeal Made at Closing Session for Rebuilding of Church in Russia

Milwaukee (AP)—With an "International day" United States Lutherans in America closed their convention here today.

The 10-day meeting approved a report by Dr. John A. Morehead, president of the Lutheran world convention executive committee, urging moral support of the "rescue, rebuilding and development of the Lutheran church in Russia."

In view of the "vital pressure against and persecution of the Christian churches" there, the executive committee of World Lutherans has adopted a program for the care of Russian refugee Lutherans migrating to other lands and strengthening the Lutheran churches in "the second line of defense." These are churches in border countries of Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania.

Lutheran service organizations of 14 countries have contributed more than $31,000 since February to enable the committee to finance the Lutheran seminary in Leningrad, which the church of Russia "heretically continues under the greatest of difficulties."

Exchange of theological students and pastors with Germany and the work of special committees in Denmark and Sweden cooperating with the world convention, were further international gestures approved at the closing meeting.

REVOLT NEAR ITS CLOSE IN CHINESE AREA

Nationalist Military Victory Reported in Clash With Feng's Troops

Shanghai (AP)—Another nationalist military thrust bringing the campaign against the northern rebels nearer to a successful end was announced today in Chinese press dispatches from Chengchow, Honan.

The reports said nationalist troops had further routed the revolutionary army of General Feng Yu-Hsiang along the Peiping-Hankow railway. Immediately north of the Yellow river, killing 2,000 rebels and capturing large quantities of arms and ammunition.

Nationalist forces were represented as attempting to occupy Tungkuang, railroad terminal at the Shensi-Shansi-Honan border point, in the hope of establishing Nanking's authority as far as the Shensi boundary and reopening the Hanchow-Tungkuang railway terminal.

This move was designed as a measure to establish a nationalist defense line in northwestern Honan province, the home of Yen Hsi-Shan, one of the leaders of the recent northern uprising.

MANCHURIANS MARCH

Peiping dispatches said troops of General Chang Hsueh-Liang, governor of Manchuria, who recently intervened in the civil war and forced the rebels off of their northern positions, were moving southward along the Peiping-Hankow railway.

The Manchurians were said to have almost reached the northern Honan border line, thereby forming an alleged Nanking-Mukden combine with a line of troops from Hankow to Peiping.

Such a front would confine Yen and Feng within Shansi province, it was said. Another Peiping dispatch said strained relations and possibly even hostilities were expected between Feng and Yen, who were allies in the recent movement against Nanking.

What will happen if nationalist and Manchurian forces make contact at the Honan-Chihli border line is a matter of speculation, but a widespread belief exists that it will result in difficulties.

Although Manchurian intervention virtually crushed the northern uprising against the nationalists, the attitude of the Nanking government toward the Manchurian regime never has been disclosed. The Mukden government now controls Shantung and Chihli provinces.

CHICAGO MUSICIANS IN BATTLE AGAINST G. O. P.

Chicago (AP)—Some "raspberry" music is being prepared for service to Chicago's voters.

Chicago Federation of Musicians, plagued because Republicans are using "canned music" to attract attention to their candidates, made known today that it would take retaliatory steps, sending forth flesh-and-blood bandmen to compete for attention with the "canned music."

James C. Petrillo, president of the union, said the Republicans have twice failed to heed the union's request that living musicians be substituted for the "canned" tunes.

"Eight thousand musicians represent canned music," he said. "We are going to put 30 or 40 band wagons on the street and do all we can to defeat the Republicans."

The Democrats, he said, have agreed to use union trumpeters, and no "canned music."

The Republicans, denying they are unfair to the unions, have declared that the idea of using "canned music" on trucks advertising candidates was conceived by another branch of organized labor—the electricians—who saw a chance to give employment in this way to many of their union's jobless.

Eclipse Observer Makes His Objectives Public

Charlottesville, Va. (AP)—Dr. Samuel A. Mitchell, scientific leader of the American expedition now in the south Pacific to observe the sun's eclipse Oct. 21, today made public through his office here his principal objective.

He is director of the Leander McCormick observatory of the University of Virginia.

The objective is to study atoms in the sun's flaming atmosphere 93 million miles distant. These solar atoms are no larger than earthly ones, which means they are so tiny that the biggest is several hundred diameters too small to be visible in the most powerful microscope.

The almost incredible scientific feat of studying them in the sun, Dr. Mitchell's report says, is not only feasible but has been so thoroughly worked out already that "the astronomer knows more about the constitution, temperature and distribution of gases in the sun's atmosphere than we know at present of our own terrestrial atmosphere 20 miles above our heads."

The solar atoms are studied by use of a spectroscopic, a glass prism through which is photographed the light of the sun's corona during eclipse. The spectrum picture is merely a series of many dark, vertical, parallel lines.

The lines look like shadows, and in a peculiar way actually are shadows.

Each line represents an absence on the photographic plate of a certain wave length of the sun's light, missing because it has been absorbed by some, but not all, of the sun's atoms lying in view of the camera eye. These atoms change their ways of absorbing light according to temperatures and many other conditions, so that a spectrum is really a photo of what atoms are doing in great masses.

One set of lines, Dr. Mitchell says, reveals in the sun's atmosphere the presence of a layer of iron vapor 800 miles deep.

Other lines show a different iron vapor only 240 miles deep. The differences are due to the fact that iron does not all vaporize in one explosive flash at a single temperature level. Some of the iron atoms get "excited" as the astronomer says, and begin to glow and show lines at one temperature, while others are not fully aroused until higher temperatures. The lower iron vapor layer on the sun represents higher temperatures.

This kind of reading of the earth's upper layers is hindered by the lack of light from terrestrial atmosphere.

MAL S. DAUGHERTY FACES TRIAL; FREE UNDER LARGE BOND

Charged With Embezzlement and Misapplication of Bank Funds

Washington Courthouse, Ohio (AP)—Mal S. Daugherty, banker who figured in the fringes of the investigation into the Teapot Dome oil lease of the Harding administration, was under $40,000 bond today charged with embezzlement, misapplication of funds and falsification of statements.

Daugherty was indicted on 58 counts yesterday by the Fayette county grand jury which investigated the closing last summer of the Ohio State bank, of which Daugherty was president and the Peoples and Drovers bank.

Daugherty, it is charged among the 15 indictments, misapplied $34,000 of the Ohio State bank's funds. According to bankruptcy proceedings started by Attorney General Gilbert B. Pettman of Ohio, at the request of State Superintendent of Banks O. C. Gray, Daugherty owes the two banks $77,000 which he is unable to pay.

A perjury indictment was returned against Virgil Vincent, grain merchant, who told the jury he had not borrowed funds from the Ohio State bank and transferred the money to Daugherty, as charged by the state.

The investigation of the banks' affairs was taken up by Prosecutor W. S. Paxson at the instance of a group of citizens after the bankruptcy proceedings were instituted. The failures caused considerable financial difficulties in Fayette county and the county itself ran short of money when $50,000 on deposit in the Ohio State bank was tied up by litigation.

The indictments resulted from an examination of Cecil L. Hall and Frank G. Schaeffer, Cincinnati accountants, according to Paxson. The investigation is not yet completed and the grand jury will be recalled Nov. 12.

NEW ATTACK LAUNCHED AT MARKET ACT

Speaker Before Grain and Feed Dealers Calls It Unconstitutional

Chicago (AP)—The Agricultural Marketing act creating the Federal Farm board was assailed as unconstitutional and subversive of America's traditional individualism by F. Dumont Smith, of Hutchinson, Kas., chairman of citizenship committee of the American Bar association, in an address to the Grain and Feed Dealers National association's convention today.

"The United States stands today at the pinnacle of this world's power and prosperity," said the speaker, in affirming that these achievements were the by-products of the individualism, guaranteed and fostered by the federal constitution. "Now," he said, "it is proposed to substitute for this free representative republic of ours a soviet, a communistic commonwealth."

Smith said that the Marketing act transgressed the limits of the constitution by affording authority for attempts to "regulate, control, fix and stabilize" commodity prices.

"No court has ever upheld or ever will uphold such a power under the interstate commerce provision of the constitution," he said.

Leaders for the marketing act under the constitutional dictum to provide for the general welfare cannot hold their ground, Smith said, unless the farm board seeks to place the various branches of agriculture on a par with every other branch as well as placing agriculture on a par with industry. He cited the depressed state of the soft coal industry, of woolen manufacturing and the widespread unemployment of labor as equally needing the nursing of the federal government, if agriculture is to be the recipient of special attention.

TWO CARS DAMAGED WHEN MACHINE SKIDS

Two cars were damaged about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in a collision at 527 S. Memorial-dr. A machine driven by Medore Porlier 1181 18th-st, Milwaukee, skidded and struck a car owned by the Fairmont Creamery Co., which was parked at 527 S. Memorial-dr. A wheel was broken off Porlier's car and the bumper and fender on the Appleton car were smashed.

Smith attacked the conception of business held by Alexander Legge, farm board chairman, as one of "vast monopoly, controlled by a very few men" and said that Legge's plan was not to "monopolize in the hands of the farm board the entire distribution, merchandising, and processing of food products."

The report of James L. King, chairman of the association's committee on legislation, said that "members of the committee on legislation are in accord with most of the strictures and criticisms that have been leveled at the Marketing act. We believe, said the report, "that it was inspired by political motives alone and that it is unsound, ill-advised, ill-digested and of no value to the farmer to whom it was intended to bring relief."

Your Water Heater is Insulated

WHY NOT YOUR RANGE?

Insulation makes the automatic storage water heater practical — without it, fuel costs would be excessive. It makes possible hot water at the turn of a faucet at low cost. The Universal Insulated Range and the Storage Water Heater are similar in principle — both give heat maintenance at the lowest possible fuel cost.

The Universal Insulated Range Gives Greater Kitchen Comfort

You can prepare your meals in a cool, comfortable kitchen with a Universal Insulated Range. The heat is retained in the oven and does not escape into the room — thus effecting a substantial saving on your gas bill.

In the ordinary range, a good portion of the gas consumed is wasted — heat losses are high. In the Universal Insulated Range, the heat losses are reduced to the minimum — the gas is utilized to cook the food only. Further, the oven retains the heat long after the gas is turned off.

Sectional view of Universal Insulated Range showing oven completely encased in Rock Wool, held firmly in place by Super-metal containers. The Universal has unusually high insulating value.

The In-A-Drawer Broiler rolls out the full length of the broiler pan at the touch of a finger — instantly accessible — sanitary and safe — it makes broiling the easiest method of cookery.

PASTOR PREACHES FAREWELL SERMON TO CONGREGATION

Rev. Leo Binder Leaves Friday as Rev. J. E. Meagher Comes to City

The Rev. Leo Binder, assistant pastor at St. Mary church, preached his farewell sermon to the congregation Sunday morning. Father Binder will leave Friday for Lonnar, where he will be pastor of a parish, and the Rev. J. E. Meagher formerly pastor at Manitowish, will assume the pastorate of St. Mary church on Friday.

The Augsburg Confession will be observed at Lawrence Memorial chapel next Sunday with an elaborate ceremony in which the Lutheran congregations of the Wisconsin synod of many churches in the Fox River valley will participate. No services will be held at the three Appleton churches participating, St. Matthew, St. Paul and Mount Olive. The four hundredth anniversary of the Augsburg Confession is being celebrated throughout the world in Lutheran churches this year.

A conference of Lutheran churches of the Wisconsin synod of the Fox River valley will be held at Central Tuesday and Wednesday. Churches from London to St. George Bay will be represented. The Rev. F. M. Brandt of St. Paul church will read a paper on How Jesus Learned Obedience.

Fifteen pastors of Wisconsin synod churches of Appleton and vicinity held a meeting of St. Paul parsonage last Wednesday. The Augsburg Confession was studied.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETS

A congregational meeting was held at St. Paul church Sunday. The Rev. Brandt spoke on The Danger of World Righteousness at the Sunday morning services, pointing out that the important thing in life is the righteousness of Christ and not the righteousness of man.

A quarterly meeting of the congregation, and a reception of new members of St. Matthew church was held Monday evening. The Phillips A. C. Froehke's sermon Sunday morning was on the Fall Season.

The Rev. R. A. Garrison of Memorial Presbyterian church will attend the meeting of the Wisconsin Synod of the Presbyterian church at Fond du Lac this week. The Woman's Synodical Missionary society will meet at the same time. The Rev. Hugh T. Kerr, moderator of the general assembly, the Rev. E. A. Odell, secretary of the department of West Indies, and Dr. Robert E. Speer, senior secretary of the board of foreign missions will be three of the noted Presbyterian personages on the program.

The Rev. Garrison preached on Opportunity to Do Good at Memorial church Sunday morning. Reminding his congregation that it is part of God's plan to develop personality by filling the world full of opportunities, Rev. Garrison said that the world is full of opportunity for those who seek it. He talked of the great opportunities in the field of science, and stated that there are just as many chances to do good as there are to make scientific discoveries. He told how Jesus "went about doing good", and how he found so many opportunities to do good that he didn't have to go beyond the small boundaries of Palestine.

A new volunteer choir under the direction of Miss Katherine Schmeltz made its first appearance at Memorial church Sunday morning.

SERVICE FOR AGED

Next Sunday morning the service at First Baptist church will be especially for the old and infirm. Cars will be sent to bring "shut-ins" to church, and the entire service will be centered around the aged.

A two day Bible conference for Baptist of Appleton will be conducted at the local church Oct. 23 and 24 by Dr. W. B. Riley of the First Baptist church of Minneapolis, one of the outstanding men of the northern Baptist convention. The Rev. E. Hasselblad, pastor, spoke on the Redemption of Life Interests at First Baptist church Sunday morning.

The Rev. J. F. Nienst, is attending the general conference of Emmanuel Evangelical churches in Milwaukee. Rally day was held Sunday at Emmanuel church, with the Rev. H. J. Faust of Cedar Falls, Ia., as speaker.

The Rev. D. E. Bosserman of Trinity Lutheran church returned Friday from Milwaukee, where he attended the seventh biennial convention of the United Lutheran church. The Rev. C. E. Fritz, Neenah, was delegate from this district. Forty-five members of Trinity congregation attended the rally meeting of the Fox River valley district association of the Young Women's Missionary society of the Wisconsin conference of the United Lutheran church at Neenah Sunday. Mrs. D. E. Bosserman, Mrs. Lillie

MAY DISCONTINUE SPIRIT CUP AWARD

The spirit cup committee at Appleton high school has been making an investigation to determine whether the race should continue. Arguments have been submitted to the faculty and a vote will be taken. The committee is composed of Miss Ruth Saacker, chairman, Pearl Lindall, Ruth Mielke, Ruth Becker, Marjorie Stevenson and Leland Delforge.

Knoke and Mrs. R. E. Burmeister were on the program.

The Use of the Sabbath was the Rev. Bosserman's sermon subject at Trinity church Sunday morning. MEETING DRAWS WOMEN

A number of Methodist women will attend the district meeting of the Women's foreign missionary society at Manitowish Thursday and Friday. Miss Nora Crane, missionary to Japan, and Dr. Mina Malek, missionary to India, will be the principal speakers, and Mrs. O. D. Cannon of this city will preside.

A missionary sermon, based on the Biblical text, "If any man have two coats let him give to him who has none", was delivered by Dr. J. A. Holmes at the Methodist church Sunday morning, opening the annual thank offering week. The Home Missionary society held its annual thank offering meeting Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. J. E. Meagher as the chief speaker. Sunday evening 76 members of the Fireside Fellowship group of the Methodist church moved to Oneida to attend a service at the Oneida Mission.

The program for the seventeenth anniversary celebration of All Saints Episcopal church was announced Sunday, as was a Church School Halloween party on Oct. 18. The Rev. L. D. Utts spoke on the subject The Grand Revolver. With the modern world as spectators, Rev. Utts passed in review the martyrs to Christianity, the workers in the church, the invalids and the poor. In the evening he spoke on Is Christianity a Delusion at a community meeting at Kaukauna, with members of the Kaukauna American Legion as guests.

SERVE THIRD SUPPER

The third building fund supper given by the young people of First Reformed church will be held Tuesday evening. The young people have pledged $280 to the church building fund, and are taking this means of raising it. Although there are no immediate plans for building, the Reformed congregation is building a fund for future use. The Rev. E. Franz spoke on The Need of a Place of Worship Sunday morning.

Fred Fung of Canton, China, who is studying the paper industry in this country, spoke to the College Group Forum at the Congregational church Sunday evening. His subject was Confucianism.

The annual Congregational convention will be held at Madison Oct. 20 to 24. The Rev. W. W. Sloan will speak on The New Pacific Asia at meeting of the C. Y. W. at the church Tuesday evening.

The first classes of the annual Religious Leadership Training school year held Monday evening at Main hall, Lawrence college. The course will continue for 10 weeks, with Dr. J. R. Denyes as superintendent.

EATING A SWEET IN MID-AFTERNOON RESTORES VIGOR

Fatigue Quickly Overcome by Sugar Content of Candy, Cake or Beverage

"Fagged out" at four o'clock is an experience that nearly every business man and woman faces daily. As a matter of fact this condition has become so apparent that it has been studied by medical men and food scientists.

One of the best "remedies" discovered for this mid-afternoon fatigue was "something to eat." Experiments showed that when a few pieces of candy, ice cream or cookies were eaten, vitality was quickly restored. The same was true when a flavored beverage was drunk—such as water sweetened with sugar.

The refined sugar content of these foods is responsible for the renewed vigor. For when refined sugar is eaten it almost immediately supplies nourishment to the body. And when the system is nourished fatigue disappears.

American business people are fortunate in being near places where candy, ice cream and beverages are sold. With practically no loss of time and very little expense, a mid-afternoon snack can be enjoyed. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

DR. MAC ELWEE TO DISCUSS GREEN BAY HARBOR AT DINNER

Will Meet Here With Men Interested in New Waterway Plans

Dr. R. S. Mac Elwee of Harvard Institute, who is engaged in making a comprehensive survey and port plan of Green Bay harbor, will talk here at a dinner meeting at Conway hotel Friday noon, it was announced Tuesday morning.

The dinner meeting is being arranged under auspices of the chamber of commerce. Among those invited to attend the meeting here are: T. E. Orblison, T. W. Orblison, Ben Prugh, Mayor John Goodland, Jr., F. E. Sengenbrenner, Judge Fred Henemann, A. L. Bosser and William Schubert.

Dr. Mac Elwee is anxious to become intimately acquainted with men throughout the Fox River valley interested in harbor development and waterway transportation, according to Kenneth Corbett, chamber secretary.

The speaker will trace the history of water transportation at Green Bay and on Lake Michigan and will outline the findings of his survey and port plan. Dr. Mac Elwee has spent many years studying harbor improvement and waterway transportation, and has been instructor in associated courses in colleges and universities throughout the country.

STUDENTS TO MEET IN MEMORY OF VIRGIL

While scholars the world over and especially in Italy are celebrating on Oct. 15 the 2,000th anniversary of the birth of Virgil, the great Latin poet, apostles of the classic poet at Lawrence college will engage in an elaborate commemorative program sponsored by the Phi Beta Kappa and Eta Sigma Phi. Honorary scholastic and classical societies at Peabody hall conservatory at 8:30 Wednesday evening. Prof. A. H. Weston of the Latin language and literature department at Lawrence college will deliver an address on Virgil.

The Lawrence program is a local expression of the worldwide movement which began in 1924 when Lauciata Ateneo Roma, Florence, Italy invited the world to cooperate in a celebration of the bimillennium of Virgil's birth. School children of all ages and classical scholars here and abroad will cooperate to do homage to the Latin poet's memory. The Appleton public is cordially invited to participate in the Lawrence memorial program.

Hunters Complain Their Dogs Are Being Stolen

District Attorney Stanley A. Stadl has promised a group of Outagamie-co sportsmen that he will conduct a vigorous prosecution of any men accused of stealing hunting dogs. The district attorney made this promise after he was visited by a committee of 10 sportsmen last week who complained that last year and again this year they have lost a number of valuable hunting dogs.

The district attorney said that the sportsmen believe there are catmen in the county who take a practice of stealing dogs by shooting the rabbits the dogs are chasing and then capturing the dogs. The men have agreed to work together to try to trap the offenders and put a stop to the thefts.

Mr. Stadl also advised the men to see their state assemblymen and senators and to ask them to draft a more stringent state law regarding the theft of hunting dogs. He pointed out that it would be a good idea to have a law which held that possession of a stolen dog would be proof that the possessor had stolen the animal.

The state law now provides a penalty of a fine of from $5 to $100 and imprisonment in the county jail for from 10 days to one year for men convicted of dog thefts. The state law follows:

"Any person who shall wrongfully take, entice or carry away, without consent of the owner thereof, any bird ordinarily kept in state of confinement, or any dog or beast of any value, not the subject of larceny at common law, shall be punished by imprisonment on in the county jail not more than one year or less than 10 days or by fine not exceeding $100 nor less than $5."

Committee To Study Question Of New High School

MORE ROOMS NEEDED NOW, BOARD FEELS

Building Congested Now as Enrollment Increases Annually

Facing an imperative need for the relief of congested conditions at Appleton high school, the committee on education has been authorized by the board of education to work on the formation of a committee of citizens to study the problem and report to the board as soon as possible.

With the present enrollment of the high school 980, almost 200 more students than the school can accommodate, and an estimated increase of 60 pupils in 1931-32, the board feels that it is time that a site for a new building be acquired so that a new high school can be built as soon as it is necessary and as soon as it is possible for the city to finance such a building program. Because there is a great difference of opinion among citizens as to the location of the new building, and on the need for a new building rather than the alteration of the present school, it was decided to name a citizen's committee to work on the matter.

It was pointed out in statistics presented by H. E. Heible, principal of the high school, that the increase in pupil in the public schools this year exceeds 250, and that this increase will be reflected in the high school in future years, causing conditions that will be detrimental to the welfare of pupils, educationally and physically.

OVERCROWDED NOW—HEIBLE
Mr. Heible declares that the present economies are being maintained at the expense of the student, as the curtailing or abolishing of general assembly periods, necessary in the interests of safety, health and schedule limitations, sacrifices school unity, school spirit and even loyalty. Classes are overcrowded this year, and with the anticipated increase two additional teachers will be necessary next year. There are as many as 47 and 48 pupils in some classes this year, whereas the normal class roll should be 30.

Although up to 1925 four grades of high school, with 1080 pupils, were maintained in the present building, this is not possible now because of the new scheduling and because of the absence of the barracks or tenement building used years ago. Formerly classes such as physics, chemistry, art, manual training, bookkeeping and typewriting met for two hours daily; now the single period takes for each class is used, which takes more room.

Figures presented by Mr. Heible showed that there are 980 pupils in the high school at the present time—250 seniors, 243 juniors, 354 sophomores and three specials—and that an enrollment of 1040 is estimated for 1931-32. The estimated enrollment will include 310 seniors, 330 juniors and 400 sophomores. The ninth grade enrollment this year is 425, registered in 168 classes. In 1931-32, 130 classes are estimated.

At present there are 40 high school teachers, .37 full time and three part time; next year it is estimated two additional full time teachers must be engaged. There were 257 graduates in 1929, and 227 in 1930; 240 are estimated for the spring, and 300 for the class of 1932.

The conclusions drawn are that with the possible enrollment of 1040 in 1931-32 and the addition of two more teachers it will be the last year in which the high school can operate under the present school day, i.e., six school periods of 55 minutes each; that beginning in September, 1932, it will be necessary to reduce periods from 55 to 40 minutes each, or to alter an eight period day; that through 1930-31 and 1931-32 it will be necessary to curtail and abandon most general assembly programs in the interests of safety, health and schedule limitations.

2 APPLETON MEN SENT TO PRISON

Alfred Merkl and Maurice Stammer Sentenced for Breaking Paroles

Two Appleton young men, Alfred Merkl, 22, 525 N. Richmond-st., and Maurice Stammer, 23, 618 S. Locust-st., were sent to the Green Bay Reformatory by Judge Theodore Berg Monday afternoon after pleading guilty of petty larceny. The pair was sentenced for breaking parole. Merkle was sentenced to one year, and Stammer was sentenced to from one to two years.

The pair was arrested on charges of stealing cigarettes and candy from a truck in the warehouse of the S. C. Shannon company last week. Sergeant John Duval apprehended them after a soft drink parlor owner reported to the police that he bought the stolen goods for $2.75.

Rammer had been on parole on charge of forgery, of which he was convicted about a year ago, while Merkle was placed on parole about a month ago when he pleaded guilty of larceny in his possession an overcoat stolen from the lobby of Mt. Olive Lutheran church last winter.

LODGE OBSERVES EVERY MEMBER PRESENT NIGHT

Every Member Present night was observed at the meeting of Valley Shrine Monday evening at Masonic temple. About 60 members were present. Prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. D. S. Runnels, Mrs. Verna Clark, and Mrs. J. T. Purves, at schafkopf by William Taylor, and at bingo by Mrs. Lena Buchman, William Schaefer, Fremont Johnston, and Mrs. Maude Gribbler. Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Lena Buchman, chairman; Miss Minnie Bitter, Mrs. William Bruce, Mrs. Nellie Harriman, and Mrs. A. E. Rule, and the entertainment committee included Mrs. Clara McGowan, chairman; Mrs. Gribbler and Mrs. William Taylor. Plans were made for an open card party to be held the evening of Nov. 3, and for a ceremonial on Nov. 10 at which the Green Bay officers will officiate. A 6:30 dinner will be served on the latter date.

CLAIM PAIR HELD AT WAUPACA ROBBED ANOTHER ROADHOUSE

Witness to Holdup Identifies Two of Trio Arrested at Weyauwega

Two of the three men held in the county jail at Waupaca, where they are serving sentences of 30 days each on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, were identified Monday afternoon as the men who held up the Stables, a roadhouse near Lacrosse, last week. Identification was made by O. C. Wittman, a Green Bay salesman, who was in the roadhouse when the holdup occurred.

The three men being held at Waupaca are Russell and George Arend and Edward Young. They gave their addresses as LaCrosse and later as St. Paul. Sheriff Arthur Steenbock said Tuesday morning he didn't know which of the two men Wittman identified. He also said that other witnesses of the holdup were expected to come to Waupaca today to see the men.

The trio was arrested at Weyauwega last Monday night during an attempted holdup of a roadhouse at Hoopersville, just outside Weyauwega. Deputy Sheriffs Chester McCarthy and Lawrence Haley made the arrests after they were summoned by the proprietor, who became suspicious of the three men. They entered the place just as they started to line up the patrons for the looking.

An effort was made to connect the trio with the robbery of the State bank at Oconto Falls last Thursday but officials of that bank were unable to identify them.

Sheriff Steenbock said the three men would be held at Waupaca until they served their sentences when they would be turned over to La Crosse for prosecution. The three men were charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct so they could be sent to jail long enough to give Waupaca officials further time to investigate their activities.

On the Air Tonight

By the Associated Press

Selections from the "Prince of Posen" played by the orchestra with vocal interludes by Anthony Olin, baritone, will be heard during the broadcast of the orchestra over WTMJ at 7:30 o'clock. Another feature of the broadcast will be the playing of a special arrangement of Drieda's "Souvenir" for the string quartet.

A trio of composers representing three eras in popular music since the late nineties will be featured on the broadcast over the NBC stations at 8:30 p. m. The composers to be heard are Charles K. Harris, Percy Wenrich and Walter Donaldson.

"Tschalkowski's Nutcracker Suite" will be played in its entirety by the symphony orchestra under the direction of Howard Barlow during the broadcast to be heard over WMAQ and the CBS network at 8:30 o'clock.

A duet by Marilyn Hill, soprano, and Jerry Clifton, tenor, of the "Song of Love" from "Blossom Time" and a cello solo by Edgar Roemheld, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" will be the highlights of the program to be broadcast over WTMJ at 8 p. m.

Wisconsin and Minnesota will be honored when their school songs open the program of the orchestra under the direction of Wayne King over WTMJ and the NBC stations at 8 o'clock.

B. A. Rolfe and his orchestra will score a musical "scop" when they play "Body and Soul" a new blues number, during the broadcast over NBC network at 9:30 p. m. This number will be sung by Libby Holman during the first performance of "The City Crowd" the night following the broadcast.

WELSH SINGERS APPEAR AT APPLETON SCHOOL
The world renowned Welsh Imperial Singers presented a musical program at Appleton high school Tuesday morning. This chorus has won praise from many notables, and a conductor, dressed in bright trousers, puffed shirts, the conductor wearing a tan coat, black knickerbockers and stockings.

There were several soloists. The 12 voices were admirably balanced, their attacks accurate in rhythm and pitch remarkable.

This was the second concert of the season.

JUDGE BERG UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT IN SUIT DECISION

Holds Arthur Knoll Had No Grounds for Case Against Railroad

The state supreme court today affirmed a decision by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court in June, 1928, in which Judge Berg had directed a verdict dismissing the suit of Arthur Knoll, Appleton, for damages of $2,000 against the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railroad company. A jury had been drawn and testimony was started when Judge Berg directed the verdict dismissing the action.

The case was appealed to the supreme court which upheld Judge Berg's findings. Knoll was injured Feb. 27, 1927, when the car in which he was riding with William Burns, Appleton, crashed into the side of an engine on a railroad crossing on Main-st. in Neenah. The car was badly damaged and Knoll suffered injuries for which he sought to recover from the railroad company. Judge Berg ruled the railroad company was not at fault in the accident.

The supreme court also dismissed the appeal taken from circuit court here by the city of Appleton in the case against J. Greenspoon. Greenspoon had been charged with a violation of the city building code in the erection of a porch on his home on E. Wisconsin-ave., which later was used for a show window. He was found guilty in municipal court and appealed to circuit court. Judge Edgar V. Werner ordered the city to try the case before a jury and the city appealed, claiming Greenspoon was not entitled to a jury trial.

FORMER KAUKAUNA WOMAN ARRESTED

Believe Apprehension of Group Solves Cigarette Thefts at Milwaukee

A former Kaukauna woman, Miss Minnie Klumb, 32, was one of six persons arrested yesterday at Milwaukee on various charges. Arrest of the six is believed by Milwaukee police to have cleared up the theft of $300 worth of cigarettes from a box car in the Milwaukee railroad yards. Miss Klumb left Kaukauna more than six years ago.

The other prisoners are: Ray Ballman, 34, of 421 S. Fourth-st.; Alva Brooks, 36, of 262 Twenty-ninth-st.; Edward Ewald, 33, of 541 Seventy-fourth-ave.; Mrs. Clara Fredericks, 35, Downer-ave., and Charles Klumb, 40, of 1797 Tenth-ave., South Milwaukee.

Ballman and Brooks, who are switchmen, are charged with burglary. Ewald, another switchman, faces a statutory charge with Miss Klumb. Mrs. Fredericks is charged with being an accessory after the fact, and Hansen is charged with receiving stolen property.

Investigation by Detectives Herman Bergin and Walter English disclosed, they say, that three men broke into the freight car, stole the cigarettes and took them to the Downer avenue address in Brooks' car. All prisoners are being held regarding other thefts from freight cars.

WET, DREARY WEATHER ON MENU WEDNESDAY

Wet and dreary weather is due to stay here for another 24 hours, at least, the weathermen say. More rain is due for the weather menu but the mercury is due for a slight rise. Similar predictions have been circulated in the middle west for some time.

Winds still are shifting in the east and northeast, a good indication that rain will continue to fall. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 53 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 65 degrees above zero.

COMMITTEE BUYS NEW ONEIDA TRUCK CHASSIS

The county highway committee Monday afternoon purchased a Oneida truck chassis from the Oneida Truck company of Green Bay for $1,990. The truck is to be fitted with a 450 gallon gasoline tank and will be used to haul gasoline to the county trucks this winter.

There were eight companies which offered truck bids to the committee and the bids ranged from $1,556 to $3,453. The lowest bid, however, was on a 14-ton truck while the truck purchased by the committee was a 31-ton machine.

SCOUT DRUM CORPS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The second rehearsal of the season for the valley council boy scout drum and bugle corps will be held at 7:30 Wednesday evening at Moose hall under the direction of Lloyd Schroeder, corps leader and deputy scout commissioner. Drills will feature the second regular rehearsal, according to Mr. Schroeder.

SCHNEIDER TO SPEAK AT FARMER'S MEETING
Congressman George J. Schneider is scheduled to be the principal speaker Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the Farmer's Equity society at Spruce, Wis. About 100 farmers are expected to attend. Congressman Schneider spent Monday and Tuesday in Langlade co.

Luck Smiles On Old Negro Porter When He Meets "Partner" Of 36 Years Ago

Watsela, Ill.—(AP)—Lady Luck has given Charlie Morris a break at last and the old Negro porter has gone to Chicago for a lifetime job with his "partner" of 36 years ago, Charles R. Walgreen, chain drug store owner.

At 1886 Charlie was a 49-a-week porter in the drug store at 39th and Cottage Grove-ave., Chicago, where Charles Walgreen was a young drug clerk at $18. The two Charlies became staunch friends, only to be separated when the call to arms took Walgreen into the Spanish-American war in 1898.

SIXTH WARD VOTERS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Consider Move to Make Wisconsin-ave Local Business District

A meeting of Sixth ward property owners, especially those residing in the vicinity of Wisconsin-ave from N. Richmond-st. to N. Meade-st., has been called for 8 o'clock tonight, at Roosevelt junior high school. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the proposed zoning change which would make the avenue a local business district. The meeting is being called by the Sixth ward voters club.

Mayor John Goodland, Sixth ward alderman, and other city officials will be asked to attend the meeting, according to club officers. The move to make Wisconsin-ave from N. Richmond to N. Meade-st. a local business district was started by the city planning commission in the belief that the district is a future district for the northern section of the city. During the last five or six years, numerous requests have come to the board asking that certain sections of the avenue be placed in the local business district.

In an effort to remove the source of many petty complaints and some litigation, it now has been suggested that the entire avenue be placed in the local business district.

ACCIDENT VICTIM STILL NEAR DEATH

The condition of William I. Stampert, 47, E. Harris-st., who was injured Sunday afternoon in an automobile accident on Highway 10 near Leppia's Corners was slightly improved Tuesday noon although he was still in grave danger of death, according to attending physicians.

Stampert's skull was fractured and he had only partially regained consciousness Tuesday. Mrs. Margaret Peniston, 50, 123 S. Appleton-st., who was riding with Stampert, also is improved, although further examinations showed that in addition to other injuries reported by physicians Monday she had suffered a broken jaw. She has several broken ribs, a broken left arm and severe cuts and bruises about the body.

Stampert and Mrs. Peniston were riding west on Highway 10 when Stampert attempted to pass another car. His machine hooked the hub cap of the other and went into the ditch, overturning and breaking off a cherry tree.

SIX PAY FINES FOR PARKING TOO LONG

Six of eight drivers, arrested Monday on charges of parking their cars on College-ave longer than 30 minutes in violation of the city ordinance, were fined $1 and costs each by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday morning. All were arrested by Officer Earl Thomas.

Those who paid fines were: M. E. Lee, 413 E. Spring-st.; Ray Bellin, 1726 N. Richmond-st.; Chester Daggett, 207 E. College-ave; Ida Sklar, 818 E. Winnebago-st.; H. Ritter, 1053 E. Vine-st.; and Henry Lillig, 428 E. Brewster-st. Charles Holmes, Y. M. C. A., has not yet appeared in court, and Charles Greunke, 708 N. Morrison-st., pleaded no guilty.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bobm, Archibald Scheibe, and Harry Burnmeister have returned from Rensselaer, Ind., where they spent the weekend with friends and relatives.

Miss Arline Schwendler spent the weekend in Milwaukee.

Riding Club Exhibits Saddle Horses Tonight

Fox river valley and northeastern Wisconsin equestrians will gather in Appleton this evening to witness the annual Appleton riding club exhibition of saddle horses at the club, 1112 S. Oneida-st. The exhibition begins at 7:30.

Eight events are on the evening's program: the first being the opening march in which 20 riders are entered. The march will be followed by an exhibition of junior class riders, five gaited horses, three gaited horses, harness class, pairs of saddle horses, hunters and the drill team exhibition.

Riders and their horses in the opening march are Karl Stansbury, Chief Deerfoot; Mrs. Walter T. Hughes, Society Queen; Ernest Mahler, Roy MacDonald; Mrs. A. F. Kivner, Shimmell; Miss Cora Guenther, Playboy; Mrs. Carl Griem, The Primer; Miss Polly Mahler, Tummy; Mrs. S. Dickinson, Star King; Miss Frances Whiting, Tilde.

Mass Marion Strode, Boopert; Mrs. M. A. Wertheimer, Firefly; Mrs. Rose Liethen, Miss Muffet; Harold Bachmann, Fashionette; Miss Irma Roemer, Let's Go; Clyde McCabe, Checkers; Mrs. Alfred Pingel, Sultan; H. K. Schuetter, Tip Top; Miss Mary Brooks, Pink Tea; Miss Isabelle

While he was in the army, however, he kept up a steady correspondence with his porter friend and Charlie Morris found occasion several times to send money and tobacco to the soldier.

Before the war ended young Walgreen was taken sick and sent home to the station in Chicago. Charlie Morris and his wife met him, took him to their home and nursed him back to strength. Soon afterwards they were parted again and for 30 years neither knew the whereabouts of the other.

In the interval, Charles Walgreen strided forward to become head of a great drug store chain with units in many cities. Charlie, the porter, saw nothing but the steady side of life. Hard luck dogged him and a few days ago he lay in bed, beset by blood poisoning in leg and arm. Not knowing where to earn money to pay for the needed medical attention, he turned the pages of a Chicago newspaper and glanced at a Walgreen advertisement. He had seen it often enough before, but this time something clicked in his mind.

"Walgreen," he mused, "Peculiar name; never knew anybody with a name like that 'cept Charlie, back in Chicago."

To his wife he said: "You know, I wouldn't be 'tall surprised if Mr. Walgreen knew something about the Charlie Walgreen I used to work with. I'm going up to Chicago tomorrow and see him."

Next day the old Negro found his way to the Walgreen offices in Chicago. He sat in the reception room, ill at ease, the only Negro there; wondered whether he was wise, after all, to spend his money for railroad fare to the city on a "hunch."

While he sat there waiting, a bald-headed man passed in front of him several times, eyed him curiously. At length he paused before Morris and said, "Don't I know you?"

"Maybe you does, boss," Charlie grinned, "but I can't say I remember you."

"Isn't your name Morris?" the bald-headed man inquired. "Charlie Morris?"

"Sure 'nuff is, boss," said Charlie and then, "say, you ain't Charlie Walgreen, that used to work with me in a drug store 'fore the war done?"

"That's exactly who I am," Mr. Walgreen said, and the spectators started as the drug store magnate

FIVE SPEAKERS ON LIONS CLUB PROGRAM

Members Talk on Subjects in Which They Are Most Interested

Five speakers appeared on the "Five ideas" program of the Lions club luncheon at Conway hotel Monday afternoon. The club has adopted a new policy, in which each member will have the opportunity to bring up subjects which he wishes to discuss or have discussed by individual members of the club.

The five speakers on the Monday program were Dr. J. A. Holmes, Erik Madison, Mayor John Goodland, Jr., John R. Riedl and Homer Bowley.

Dr. Holmes discussed the element of competition, its rapid growth in modern business, and told how it brings about a tremendous waste. Mayor Goodland briefly outlined tentative plans for revaluating city property. He said that a representative of the tax commission would be in the city soon to start this work.

Mr. Madison spoke on increasing deaths due to automobile accidents. He pointed out the need for more efficient and strenuous policing of state and federal highways to curb these accidents.

REALTY TRANSFERS

Dennis Van Oeyen to Elvira Johann, two lots in Sixth ward, Appleton.

Eliza J. Bohn to Anna Neumann, lot in Village of Dale.

Henry Powers, 27, Oneida, who suffered a fractured pelvis and right hip, and Howard Mac Rorie, 21, Kaukauna, who has a broken pelvis and head wounds, were reported better.

REPORT ONE MORE CASE OF WHOOPING COUGH

Only one case of whooping cough was reported to health officers last week. There have been no new cases of chicken pox, but health officials still urge parents to watch schoolchildren so there is no spread of this children's disease.

Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer, is still confined to his home with infection.

GUARDS GUESTS OF THEATRE MANAGEMENT

Fifty members of Co. D, 137th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard and officers were guests of the Fox theatre management Monday evening at the showing of the picture, "All Quiet on the Western Front." The guardsmen marched to the theatre in a group and were photographed in front of the building.

Mrs. Leon Ariens, Brillion, formerly Miss Clara Lenke, Appleton, submitted to an operation at Mercy hospital, Oshkosh, Monday morning.

DECIDE TO REDRAW SMOKE MEASURE TO TIGHTEN LOOPHOLES

Manufacturers and Citizens Promise Cooperation at Public Hearing

The proposed smoke ordinance for Appleton, which was before it is submitted to the common council for final action, following a public hearing on it at city hall Monday evening. The ordinance was dissected by both industrial representatives and private property holders, with the conclusion that the regulation as it now is formed could never be enforced because it offers too many loopholes. Milwaukee and Green Bay smoke ordinances will be studied and a meeting with technical engineers and interested citizens will be held before a new ordinance is drawn up.

Smoke is smoke—the Superior-st. dump fire proved that—but the determination of what is dense smoke and what is not is a matter that calls for expert examination. The ordinance prohibits "dense" smoke, but it was felt that this term should be more specifically described in the ordinance.

O. K. Boyer and David Galady of the Interlake Pulp and Paper company, in pledging their company's cooperation in the relieving of the smoke evil in Appleton, stated that each year their company spends thousands of dollars to eliminate dense smoke, because every bit of smoke exuding from the smokestack means that much coal has been consumed in the furnace. However, they felt that the term "dense" smoke should be further clarified, and suggested that a committee from the common council meet with the manufacturers to discuss the matter.

PROMISE COOPERATION
Charles Seaborn and William Falstuck of the Thimply Pulp and Paper company, after expressing their desire to cooperate in the matter, explained that there are certain firing periods in the day when it is impossible to avoid dense smoke. Clarence Bales represented the Fox River Paper company.

R. E. Basing, who lives near the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks, criticized the railroad company for the quantities of smoke escaping from their engines, and said that much of this could be eliminated. W. B. Basing, representing the railroad company, stated that the company makes every effort to cut down the amount of smoke. Through trains are fueled outside the city limits, but switch engines working inside the city must be fired within the city limits.

A. H. Krugmeyer, First Ward resident whose home is bathed in smoke from most of the paper mills on the river, urged immediate adoption of the smoke ordinance and took issue with Mr. Boyer on his suggestion that an expert would be needed to determine what is dense and what is not "dense" smoke.

The clause of the ordinance which necessitates the securing of a permit from the building inspector before a manufacturing plant can install or repair a boiler or furnace will have to be modified as it was pointed out that the city cannot employ a technical expert to determine a question of this kind.

City finances regulating the licensing of golf courses and theatres will be submitted to the common council to be placed on their passage and passed. No one appeared against the ordinance. The new regulations provide for a $50 license fee for all golf courses, minimum regulation, and for a minimum of 10 cents a seat with a minimum of 500 seats. Formerly theatres were licensed at $100, regardless of capacity.

30 IKE WALTONS TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Annual Banquet Will Be Held Thursday Evening at Oshkosh Hotel

Thirty Appleton members of the Isaac Walton league and their wives are planning to attend the annual banquet of the state organization at Oshkosh Tuesday evening, according to E. W. Shannon, president. The dinner will be served at Hotel Althearn.

Reservations must be in by 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, Mr. Shannon said. They can be made with Mr. Shannon or J. E. Murphy.

Some of the speakers are Philip LaFollette, Republican nominee for governor; William Manthe, chairman state conservation commission; state president Frank N. Graess; Fred Luening of the Milwaukee Journal; state fire warden Fred Wilson; W. H. Loutit, chairman Michigan state conservation commission; Guy Howard of the Marathon Paper Mills company; Otto Beyer, president State Game Breeders' association; Senator George Blanchard; Assemblyman August Piper; Paul Kelleter, director of conservation; Franklin Schmidt of Wisconsin research bureau; G. V. Roik of Northern States of the Federal bureau of fisheries. There will also be debates and discussions on present and proposed legislation.

COUNTY CLERK TO GET BIDS ON 68,000 BALLOTS

Bids will be received Wednesday by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, on ballots to be used in the regular election on Nov. 4. Mr. Hantschel will take bids on 20,000 regular and 4,000 sample general election ballots and also on 30,000 regular and 4,000 sample referendum ballots. The contract for the work will be awarded to the lowest bidder.

GRANT TWO PETITIONS FOR BUILDING PERMITS

Two petitions for building permits were granted by the board of appeals at city hall Monday evening. The request of Lawrence Hoh to build an addition to his residence at 231 E. Spring-st., about that of F. F. Martin, 221 S. Calcut to construct a two car garage, were granted. The Hoh proposed addition was a violation of the rear yard ordinance, and the Martin garage interfered with the ordinance regulating sideyards.

START PRELIMINARY HEARINGS OF MEN ARRESTED IN RAID

Case Is Being Tried Before U. S. Commissioner in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(AP)—Preliminary examination of the eight defendants arrested by the government following a raid on a huge still near Sherwood, opened today before a federal commissioner. The defendants include Ben Brooks, Joe Sucharski, George Potvin, Elmer Borneman, Joseph Bauer and his son, Joseph, Jr., James Vanl and Albert Grosz.

A battery of counsel is defending the men, including Gerald Clifford of Green Bay. George Carmichael, federal agent, testified that the raid was made on information supplied by W. F. Cunningham, Milwaukee prohibition administrator, but admitted on cross examination that the tip first came from a man who stopped him on the street.

The plan raided by three squads of dry men under Mr. Cunningham, was found on the farm owned by the Bauers. It was built in a barn that had been remodeled to accommodate the huge plant, said by the officers to be one of the largest ever found in Wisconsin. The stills had a capacity of 140 gallons of 190-proof alcohol per hour. The agents also destroyed 70,000 gallons of mash, 1,500 gallons of finished product, and all the still equipment.

More than 13 tons of sugar and yeast were confiscated. The barn was equipped with an electric light plant, a 60 gallon power steam boiler, an automatic oil burner and two wells had been dug to supply the enormous amount of water needed in the illicit manufacturing operations.

FARMER'S MUTUAL RISK MEN ARE MEETING HERE
About 50 members of farm mutual insurance companies were gathered at the courthouse this morning for a conference on insurance problems. This insurance men represented insurance companies from this section of the state and the meeting here is one of four which are to be held throughout the state during the next week. J. A. Kennedy, deputy state insurance commissioner, was in charge of the meeting. Reinsurance of excess losses, farm fire inspection methods, value of proper business management and proposed legislation were among subjects discussed. Round table conferences of various problems also occupied part of the morning. Other meetings are to be held Oct. 15 at Chippewa Falls; Oct. 17 at Richland Center; and Oct. 21 at Wausau.

DEATHS
MRS. FRED YORDE
Mrs. Fred Yorde, 68, Clintonville, died in an Oshkosh hospital Monday after an illness of about a year. Born Oct. 22, 1861, in Germany, she came to this country with her parents at the age of 15, settling in Berlin, Wis. The family later moved to Shawano co., where she was married. Mr. and Mrs. Yorde went to Clintonville, taking a home on Power-st., about 16 years ago.

Besides the widow, she is survived by eight children, Mrs. William Cronce of Shawano, Ernest Yorde of Freeport, Ill., Mrs. Robert Russell, route 2, Clintonville, Mrs. Adolph Krueger, route 2, Clintonville, Otto Yorde, Kenosha, Mrs. David Bartz of Belle Plaine, and Mrs. Leonard Rish, Menasha, and two brothers, William Beremann of Freeport, Ill., and Ernest Beremann of Germany.

The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Russell, Clintonville, and at 2 o'clock at the Christus Lutheran church, Clintonville, with the Rev. E. Stubenvoll in charge. Interment will be in Graceland cemetery.

RAYMOND MCGUIRE
Raymond McGuire, 32, died at the Edward Heins hospital, Chicago, Tuesday. He left Appleton about eight years ago and had been connected with the Standard Oil company for the last six years.

He is survived by his wife, his mother, Mrs. Hannah McGuire; two sisters, Mrs. Edith Bernhardt and Mrs. Fred Hoopner; two brothers, Frank and Howard, all of Appleton. The body will arrive in Appleton Wednesday morning and will be taken to the Breitschneider Funeral Home where it may be viewed until the funeral. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning from St. Mary church with burial in St. Joseph cemetery.

McGuire served with Co. G, Second Wisconsin Infantry when that organization was on the Mexican border and went overseas in 1917 with the Rainbow division, participating in five major engagements.

Frank Is Fined
John Dickerman, 312 S. Oneida-st., was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday morning when he pleaded guilty of drunkenness. He was arrested Monday night by Sergeant James Moore on N. Superior-st.

SCORES OF PEOPLE SEEK INFORMATION ON EUROPEAN TOUR

Meating Asks Interested Person to Write Instead of Phoning for Details

Scores of reservations continue to pour into the office of A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, from rural school teachers throughout the state for the proposed tour to Europe next summer. Mr. Meating Monday issued a request to all persons interested in the trip to write for further information instead of telephoning or making personal calls at his office.

The county superintendent said that the work in his office is being interrupted by numerous telephone and personal calls. He said all these requests would be answered by letter as soon as final arrangements are completed within the next week or 10 days. Telephone or personal calls are apt to result in confusion, he pointed out.

Mr. Meating's preliminary announcement of the European trip has traveled all over the United States, it is indicated by letters he has been receiving during the past few days. One person wrote from Washington, D. C., another from Pontiac, Mich., another from Louisville, Ky., and still another from Oak Park, Ill. All ask for more information on the trip. In addition to these letters Mr. Meating has received scores of letters from teachers throughout the state.

"This tour is being planned primarily for rural school teachers," Mr. Meating said. "However, if the crowd doesn't become too large we will accept some reservations from teachers' relatives and friends. These reservations will be accepted in the order in which they are received and when our quota is filled, others will be turned down."

Mr. Meating proposes to leave Appleton sometime in July, 1931, returning from 81 to 83 days later. The group will go either to New York or Montreal from where they will sail to England. There will be a trip through the Shakespeare country, four full days in London, five days in Paris, with a tour of the battlefields and possible short sidetrips to Germany, Switzerland, Belgium and Holland. Sight seeing trips will be arranged for the teachers in London and Paris. The total cost will be under $270 and the price will include all expenses of the teachers from the time they leave Appleton until they return.

ABANDON FRATERNITY SCHOLARSHIP AWARD

The inter-fraternity scholarship cup awarded at Lawrence college will be abandoned this year, according to a decision of the college officials. Each year in the past a cup was awarded to the fraternity which maintained the highest scholastic average. It was thought that the award would lend impetus to the efforts of the various groups and stimulate competition. However, enmity arose between the groups and so the award will be discontinued.

"There is, I think, something intrinsically wrong with the idea involved, inasmuch as it should not require a trifle to induce students to study," said President Henry M. Wriston. "Moreover, it frequently leads to misunderstandings which negative any value it might otherwise have."

RAILROADS FIGHT REPARATION FOR KOHLER COMPANY

Roads Assert They Have Interpreted Tariff Differently

BY RUBY A. BLACK

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington—Objecting to a report proposed by Examiner C. J. Peterson of the Interstate Commerce Commission which awards reparation to the Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wis., for excessive freight charges, the defending railroads have filed a brief with the Commission.

Under Examiner Peterson's report, if agreed to by the Commission the Kohler company will get a refund of $158.96 of the $512.16 it paid in freight charges on shipments of mixed carloads of plumbers' goods to Dallas, Texas, and it will not be required to pay additional charges asked by the railroads for similar shipments to Abilene, Pampa, and Houston, Tex.

The railroads now assert, in their brief, that they have interpreted the tariff governing these shipments differently from the Kohler company, and that under their interpretation, instead of owing money in refunds, they are owed money for undercharges. They state that the same issue is involved in two other cases, the Crane and Co., case, in which dismissal of the complaint was recommended, and a case brought by the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Co., which has not yet been reported. These three cases should have been considered together, the railroads say.

The railroads also argue that the Commission should not award reparation after a general readjustment of rates which brings with it both increases and reductions in rates such as the Consolidated Southwestern cases which figure in this decision. This has long been the policy of the

DEER ON INCREASE IN UPPER PENINSULA

Escanaba, Mich. — (P) — Because of changes which have come about in the last ten years, there are now more deer in the upper peninsula of Michigan than there were 25 years ago, according to E. C. Voght of Escanaba, member of the Michigan Conservation commission. Factors credited for this increase are Michigan buck law and Shiras gun law, increased vigilance of night patrols to stop spot-light shooting, and increased growth of timber, which afford excellent protection for deer as well as favorable feeding grounds.

With better protection from fires, areas which once had big timber are being covered by nature with brush second-growth trees. Deer stay in these areas and do not migrate, and they are harder for hunters to get. More small deer have been seen at the beginning of the season because conservation officers have been curbing pre-season hunting, always a time of high fatality for fawns.

The section between Seney and Grand Marais is populated so well that motorists are cautioned to watch out for deer on highways. Last season 58 were killed by cars on this road.

The time is not far distant, Mr. Voght said, when the upper peninsula will have to deal with deer, a problem met by other states having similar hunting regulations.

RIGID AIRSHIPS HELP SCIENCE TO PUSH AVIATION

Construction Is Merely Means to End, Engineers Point Out

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA)—The building of rigid airships is a means to an end rather than an end in itself, according to government aeronautical engineers. They assert that too much importance cannot be attached to the development of the rigid type of lighter-than-air ships but that within the next two generations the type of aerial transport probably will undergo changes which will make the present airship as obsolete as a hansom cab.

The new type, however, could not possibly be evolved without the development of the rigid airship and its operation. It is expected that fully as much will be learned from the scrapping of the present day airships as from their building and operation. Their life is limited at best.

Naval engineers report that the Navy's only rigid airship, the Los Angeles, now has a life or two to four years with careful handling. The report says that the present condition of the craft is good and if the ship is carefully operated and inspections are constantly made, it should continue in service from two to four years. It has flown approximately 100,000 air miles and has spent 1,200 hours at mooring masts. This is the longest life of any rigid airship to date.

SUGGESTS TESTS
The engineers suggest that the Los Angeles be used during the remaining years of its service to yield data of mechanical handling, landing and mooring of such craft, and the report concludes, "a real service to the art of airship design, construction, and operation can be derived through eventually conducting destruction tests on the Los Angeles."

Great Britain still has one rigid airship in service, after the destruction of the ill-fated R-101. That nation, it is understood, will continue to conduct dirigible operations. The remaining British ship, the R-100, is the only one at present which was not built under German supervision and design.

The American Navy is now having the ZRS-4, which will be considerably larger than the Los Angeles, built at Akron, Ohio. The Los Angeles has an overall length of 558.3 feet, a diameter of 90.7 feet and a gas capacity of 2,470,000 cubic feet. Five engines develop a total horsepower of 2,000. The ZRS-4 will be 735 feet long, 132.9 feet in diameter, have a gas capacity of 6,500,000 cubic feet and be powered with eight engines totalling 4,480 horsepower.

Aeronautical engineers are almost unanimous in ascribing the British airship disaster to the use of hydrogen gas. Helium gas is utilized in the American ships and will be used in the commercial rigid airships operated by American companies. An ample supply of helium is available in the United States, both from the government plants at Fort Worth and in the Amarillo, Texas, field and from properties owned by commercial corporations. The Graf Zeppelin, which has made very successful flights, utilizes what is known as "blat gas," which does not possess the inflammable qualities of hydrogen.

There is a provision in the present government regulations which makes it possible for helium to be sold in peace time to foreign nations, if they make application to the president for permission to purchase this product. It is believed in government circles that foreign nations experimenting with the rigid airship will take advantage of this in the future. This will provide a profitable outlet for an American product as well as afford additional safety in the development of commercial airplanes.

Engineers connected with government departments anticipate that within a hundred years the rocket type of airship probably will replace the present rigid lighter-than-air craft.

DINOSAUR HUNT IS PLANNED BY SCIENCE

Syracuse University Andean Expedition Gets Underway in December

Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
New York—(CPA)—Science is starting out on something like a dinosaur hunt. Details of the Syracuse university Andean expedition, which will sail for South America Dec. 31 to search for pre-historic animals, were made public here today.

Repeated reports have come from the Orinoco basin, in Venezuela, that huge and ungainly creatures, possibly survivors of some earlier geologic epoch, had been seen in the jungles. Until recently they have been given little attention by scientists, but later and now authoritative reports appeared to merit investigation.

As the youngest member of the expedition, Howard W. Curran, senior student at Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y., will have an assignment made to order for adventurous youth, not only hunting the strange beasts but fighting the ferocious Chibcha Indians, said to be about the wildest and most dangerous surviving tribe anywhere in the world. Chibchas are said to have developed a high degree of civilization long before the Incas.

Toronto—Walking Deer, Indian hunter, is convinced that it will be a mild winter with little snow. "Little bright eyes build their homes close to ground," he has written friends from Hudson, Ont. Bright eyes are black squirrels. Their nests are lower than usual, indicating to Walking Deer that drifts will not be so high.

SOCIAL AGENCIES LOOK FORWARD TO DIFFICULT WINTER

Take Steps to Place More Cheerful Aspect on Unemployed Situation

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Chicago—(CPA)—Industrial organizations, social agencies and governmental departments are taking steps in Chicago this week to place a more cheerful aspect on the situation that will confront unemployed here during winter months.

Leaders in these groups have decided that it is wise to recognize problems that are almost certain to arise, due to slack industrial conditions and at the call of Governor Louis L. Emmerson, they plan to map a program for relief.

The object is to avoid the necessity for charity as much as possible. With an estimated 10 per cent of Chicago's working population out of a job, the task is recognized as an important one. To aid in accomplishing it, big employers of labor will be encouraged to spread jobs as far as possible, through part time work "staggered" working hours and shorter weeks. There also is consideration of a work fund to be built up by city, county and state agencies and through contributions. A great amount of work needs to be done, but the problem is to get money to use in paying for it.

SUGGESTS PART TIME
"With funds available, men could be employed at part time labor doing odd jobs that need to be done. Then instead of receiving charity, they would be paid for labor and at the same time would have opportunities to continue looking for regular jobs," explained Joel Hunter, director of the United Charities of Chicago.

"When charity is administered, the help should be through established agencies, as there is always the chance that the professional charity seekers will take advantage of the situation and also that some form of racketeering will develop in the way of unauthorized agents and agencies."

The governor's conference here will seek as its first step, a definite appraisal of the unemployment situation. Before moving ahead too fast, it will try to feel its way to the crux of the problem.

But every group here is sounding a warning to unemployed from other cities, not to drift this way. Normally Chicago is a congregating place, for men out of work, because of its situation as the country's rail center. That only adds to the local problem and in plans for solving the work problem, the agencies want to try to take care of regular residents.

OUTDOOR RELIEF COSTS NEW YORK $6,000,000

Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
New York—(CPA)—New York city is spending this year for outdoor relief about $6,000,000, this sum representing an increase of 2,500 per cent in the last 17 years, according to a report made public today by the city welfare council.

Outdoor relief provides assistance for persons in their homes, as distinguished from institutional care. Funds for relief of war veterans and their families, including veterans of the Civil, Spanish-American and World wars, increased from $33,000 in 1910 to $323,000 in 1926. Expenditures for relief of adult blind rose from $55,000 in 1910 to $179,000 in 1926. Much of the increase in outdoor relief expenditure is accounted for by care of fatherless children.

The NEW KOTEX BELT

brings new ideals of sanitary comfort! Woven to fit, on an entirely new patented principle. Firm yet light; will not curl; perfect-fitting.

KOTEX
The New Sanitary Pad which deodorizes

TAKE no unnecessary chances in this important matter of sanitary protection—specify Kotex.

Kotex—first of all sanitary pads—remains best of all sanitary pads. Every month, every year, scientists add details to perfect its comfort, to give you the feeling of being well groomed, at ease; to offer you inconspicuous protection.

First, its amazing absorbency

The absorbent of which Kotex is made—Cellucotton (not cotton), absorbent wadding—is unique. It is five times more absorbent than surgical cotton, by actual test. Five times more lasting for that very reason.

Kotex is guaranteed to last longer, to stay soft longer than any other sanitary pad.

Hospitals use it
Do you know that 85% of our leading hospitals use Kotex absorbent today? Yes, they specify Kotex, they insist on Kotex absorbent in cases where the utmost safety and delicacy are necessary. Never is safety more vital, never is comfort more essential. Specify "Kotex." Accept nothing else.

Kotex Company, Chicago.

Having
what we call
"charm"

JUST as letters must be used in proper places to make up words, so furnishings must be correctly arranged in a room to produce the charm of good decoration.

Richness of materials is important, of course, but positioning is of even greater significance.

This desirable result may be obtained by co-operating with your Interior Decorator.

Picked Up After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Towanda, Pa.—"I was working in a silk mill and got so tired and rundown that I weighed only 89 pounds. I was not well enough to do my work. As soon as I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to pick up. After being married for thirteen years, I had a baby boy and the next year I had another boy who now weighs 87 pounds and is healthy as a bear. The Vegetable Compound has helped me in a dozen ways and I hope others will try it too."

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

JACK was at the court house. Sue knew that he might not be in until after lunch. Her own lunch hour was just beginning. She decided that she would hurry to the hospital and find out how seriously ill Sarah was before she notified Ted. And then she would do it in a casual manner instead of dramatizing it.

At the hospital she found that Sarah was delirious. The house physician shook his head.

"A pretty sick girl," he said. "Isn't there anyone who ought to be notified?"

"I'll tell her friends," Sue answered. "But her family?"

"She hasn't any. There isn't anyone but Sarah." Sue felt a choking pity for Sarah as she spoke. In all the world, she had no one who belonged to her. She was dreadfully ill, dying perhaps . . . and Ted had made her unhappy.

Sarah's piquant, laughing face, with the dancing blue eyes, came out on the stage of Sue's mind; the gypsy red coat, the careless laughter, the gay unselfishness.

Sue wondered if Dr. Burton knew of the sudden illness. She went down the hall to a telephone and called the clinic. "When she got him she told him that Sarah had caught cold . . . they had taken her to the hospital because a settlement house was an inconvenient place in which to . . . other words which didn't mean much."

"I'll be right there," Dr. Burton promised. "Has she asked for me?"

"No, she hasn't said much of anything," Sue answered. "That at the disappointment in his answering voice, she said quickly: 'You see, she's unconscious!'"

"I'll be right there!" The receiver clicked at the other end of the line. Sue closed the number of Ted's office. There was a chance that he might not be at lunch just now.

When his voice finally came to her she told him very casually that she probably wouldn't be home for dinner that evening. She asked him if he would mind eating down town.

"Not a bit. I'm dining out anyway," he explained. "Sarah's in the hospital and I thought I'd loaf around here a little while."

"Sarah?" Sue was curiously impersonal. "Nothing serious, is it?"

"Not especially, I guess," Sue answered, her resentment against her brother flaming higher. If he couldn't even care for Sarah very much and then it would be unnecessary to frighten him. If he did, then he deserved to be treated coolly for his treatment of her. "She just has pneumonia."

"Who's the doctor, Burton?" Ted asked quickly.

"That sounded well, Sue decided. 'No, a man from the hospital. But Dr. Burton's on his way here now. I just notified him.'"

"Well, I'll stop in this afternoon. I'm taking Joan to lunch," Ted finished. "That's a tough break, all right."

Dr. Burton arrived almost as soon as Sue replaced the receiver.

NEXT: Sue is baffled.

WE WOMEN by Betty Brainerd

THE DANGERS OF BOREDOM

"Dear Betty Brainerd:

I have been in love with a girl about a year. During the first few months the girl in the case was very demonstrative. I think I was too. Then I took her and her love for granted.

"My enthusiasm did not dwindle. But it failed to manifest itself as it did when our love was fresh. She complained about this apparent change but I assure you there was no change at all. I so assured her, too, whenever she complained that I wasn't as nice to her as I used to be."

"Lately the shoe has gone to the other foot. The complaint she made of me I now felt justified in making of her. I am as enthusiastic as I was in the early months of our affair but she apparently has ceased to be demonstrative; and I find that our conversations are not as interesting as they used to be and that our silences are more numerous."

"What do you suppose accounts for this very annoying state of affairs? I love her with all my heart and I am sure she loves me."

There is nothing for you to worry about. Boredom enters into all loves, even into the lives of young people in love with each other.

We must accept such things as unescapable facts and resign ourselves to them and make our adjustments accordingly.

Genuine and sustained boredom exists only where love does not exist.

That is why young women who marry rich old men are unhappy—inevitably and agonizingly unhappy. What passes for happiness in such marriages is nothing more than a lie.

PRIEST OBJECTS TO HOOVER'S MESSAGE TO LUTHERAN CHURCH

Scores President for Language Used in Congratulatory Message

Washington—(P)—The language chosen by President Hoover in a message to American Lutherans for the anniversary this month of the Protestant reformation has brought denunciation from a Catholic source. Father John J. Burke, secretary of the National Catholic Welfare conference, issued a statement last night asserting Mr. Hoover had clearly violated "the spirit if not the letter of his oath of office" in a brief greeting the chief executive wrote for the American Lutheran, a church publication.

Immediate answer came from the president's secretary, George Aker-son. "Any such suggestion or implication as that made by Father Burke," he said, "is an injustice both to the president's own sentiments and the complete religious tolerance he has always felt and has always advocated both publicly and privately."

Father Burke said the president had insulted millions of Americans but held it more important that he had congratulated one particular religious body "on the changes it introduced from older conceptions of religion and government."

The president's message was: "I send cordial greetings to the Americans of Lutheran faith who are celebrating on Oct. 31 the anniversary of the Protestant Reformation and the 400th anniversary of the reading of the Augsburg confession, from which date so many of the changes in point of view from older conceptions both of religion and government."

AFFECTS NATIONAL LIFE

"The effects of these historical events are reflected in our national life and institutions, in religion through the predominant numbers of adherents to Protestant faiths and in government through the principle of separation of church and state. It is fitting that we should commemorate the persons and events from which mighty forces have sprung."

Father Burke said it was entirely proper for the president to send a message of congratulation on the civic work done by Americans of the Lutheran faith.

"But," he added, "in the actual message which President Hoover sent to them, for the celebration of Reformation Sunday, the president clearly violates the spirit if not the letter of his oath of office as president of the United States."

He questioned the historical accuracy of the president's utterance also, asserting: "Luther was not a champion of the separation of church and state, but a most arbitrary defender of state absolutism."

"It does matter very much," he concluded, "to the whole constitutional structure of our country, and its institutions, that the president of all the people, who is called by virtue of his office to respect the religious rights of all, congratulates one particular religious body on the changes it introduced from older conceptions of religion and government, and declares that we as a nation should commemorate the Protestant persons and the events from which 'these mighty forces shaping our country have sprung.'"

LUTHERAN'S STATEMENT

Milwaukee—(P)—The Rev. Dr. F. H. Knobel, president of the United Lutheran church in America today made the following statement:

"This is no quarrel between the Catholics and ourselves, but between a Catholic spokesman and the president's message," he said. "We do not, therefore, care to enter. But we would not object if the president sent a message to Catholics calling attention to what that church considers historically important."

"So far as we have any opinion, we deplore that from any Catholic source there should be any objection to President Hoover sending a message which concerns the more than ten million persons of Lutheran origin."

President Knobel questioned about Father Burke's charge of "historical inaccuracy" in the Hoover statement said it was "possible" there was unfortunate construction as far as Catholic beliefs were concerned, placed on the president's thoughts in the matter as written by the one who handled the detail of the statement."

REPORT SUBMITTED ON DOUBTFUL STOCK SALES

Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press New York—(CPA)—Assistant Attorney-General W. V. Washburn submitted to Attorney-General Hamilton Ward today a report on fraudulent stock sales which noted the first mail fraud action ever launched against operators of a New York stock exchange pool. This was a federal action against a group of operators whose activities, it was charged, caused a sharp decline in the stock of the Manhattan electrical supply company. Six indictments resulted.

Representative Sirovich, of New York, announced last week that he would lead a drive against stock market racketeers.

During the current decline in stock prices there has been increasing pressure on public officials against supposed unscrupulous market manipulation. Two years ago, when the federal reserve board issued a warning against inflation and proposed drastic restraint, there were denunciations of the board, and some of the congressmen who had helped draw the federal reserve act protested against interference with the bull market.

Famous Families Are Represented In Chicago As New Debutantes Appear

Names of families linked with Chicago's history in this year's list of debutantes. Among them is Geraldine Swift (center) of the famous packing family, Beatrice Kirk (right) and Constance Hasler.

Chicago—(P)—A new class of debutantes in Chicago scarcely would be complete without an Armour, a Swift, a Palmer, a Stevens or others of the pioneer families.

This year is no exception. In fact it is distinctive because there is an Armour as well as a Swift. Elsa Armour, daughter of A. Watson Armour, is making her bow this fall. The Swift is Geraldine, daughter of Gustavus F. Swift, Jr.

Both families are of the famous packing lines.

Both Miss Armour and Miss Swift will be introduced at downtown balls during the winter. Many others of this year's bevy of young women will be presented at teas and garden parties at the suburban estates of their parents in Lake Forest, Winnetka, Glenview and Hubbard Woods.

Other debuts are Caroline Smith, of a banking family, Constance Hasler, Hortense Henry Virginia, Lamson, Margaret McLennan, Josephine Denney and Jeanne and Katherine Street and Beatrice Kirk.

Membership in the Junior League and the Service club are rewards for debut popularity. Both the organizations devote most of their energies to charitable work.

A musical show presented by the Service club every fall draws many of its chorus girls from the debutant ranks.

Two years ago a mild sensation developed when two mothers withdrew their daughters from the show because of the abbreviated dancing costumes.

QUESTION RIGHT OF SENATE IN PROBES

senatorial inquiry of a primary is an unwarranted interference with the operations of party organization. Congress could of course pass a law regulating primaries but in the absence of such a law there is no power except an arbitrary one to say that a primary has been properly or improperly conducted.

If the case does get into the courts the ruling probably will be entirely on whether a senate committee has the right to investigate for the general purpose of framing legislation. There is no important bill pending which looks toward the regulation of primary elections but congress on the other hand has appointed investigating committees without necessarily framing a specific proposal.

It is generally admitted that congress has the right to inquire into all the facts in an election both in the primaries and in the final contest after both have occurred so as to get a background for a judgment as to the qualifications and character of a candidate. The new question that has arisen is whether investigations should be carried on in advance of a general election and at a time when the work of the committee itself becomes entangled in the campaigns of the various candidates. It would be easy, for instance, for one political party to use a campaign investigating committee to prevent the election of opponents by constantly focusing attention on minute details of campaigning. There is on the other hand the argument that the people are entitled to know immediately after a primary election all the facts so that they can still have an opportunity to choose some other candidate in the general election. In the case of Frank L. Smith of Illinois, investigators had made a comprehensive study and report before the final election but it did not interfere with Mr. Smith's victory at the polls. One of the effects of the investigating business may be to compel congress to pass a law specifically regulating the amounts of money that can be spent by candidates in both primary and final elections.

RALPH CAPONE APPEAL SETS MARK FOR LENGTH

Chicago—(P)—An unprecedented number of words—750 pages of them—have been employed by attorneys for Ralph Capone, "public enemy," in presenting their appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals from Capone's conviction for income tax fraud.

Capone is under a three year sentence. The filing of the 750-page bill of exceptions, representing what lawyers believe to be a record for length for such a document in a criminal case, probably will delay final action on Capone's case until next spring.

OFFICIALS CHECK DIAMOND'S CAREER

Attempt to Link Him With Many Mysterious Cases on Hand

Special Dispatch To Post-Crescent

New York—(CPA)—With word from the hospital that Jack (Legs) Diamond, gangster shot Sunday, had a chance to live, state investigators of New York city scandals today began energetic efforts to check Diamond's possible connections with cases on hand. Diamond has been arrested 23 times, and on 21 occasions was released by magistrates.

Hiram C. Todd, special assistant attorney general in charge of investigations of the judiciary, is awaiting Diamond's recovery, to question him with regard to his reported contribution to the campaign funds of a general sessions judge. He is also looking for a show girl who said she had attended a testimonial dinner given for Diamond, at which several judges congratulated him on his adroitness in keeping out of jail.

Twice arraigned for murder, Diamond has been grilled in virtually every major gang killing in the city. After the murders in the Hotzy-Totsy club last year, Diamond kept out of sight until after the essential witnesses in the case had been killed. He then appeared voluntarily at police headquarters and had no difficulty in extricating himself.

The attack on Diamond, similar in many details to the Rothstein murder, with a sudden onslaught in a hotel room, a volley of shots and the obliteration of all clues, brings to Police Commissioner Mulrooney his first dramatic underwork, encounter. Commissioner Whalen's spectacular but futile handling of the Rothstein case and his other colorful forays caused much embarrassment both to him and the city administration. Commissioner Mulrooney is a seasoned policeman of the "hard-boiled school," and the case is certain to provide another cause celebre.

NEW TWEED DRESS HAS TIERED SKIRT

Black and White Models Look Awfully Tailored and Womanly

BY AILEEN LAMONT Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press New York—(CPA)—And who is this coming down the boulevard, looking awfully tailored but at the same time inexorably womanly? None other than the Parisienne in her new featherweight tweed, with its tiered skirt made up chiefly of tiered, flat flounces, its wide, leather belt, and its somewhat more than hip length coat. Black and white tweed is a favorite.

Just as hard as she tried to acquire it, London is trying to get rid of the summer tan. The reason? Well, so many of the new shades look so much better with a light skin than with a darker one. Complex? Life is just nearly impossible. Possibly there's some end to the variety of materials out of which the little, close-fitting hats of the season may be wrought. At any rate, among the latest are hats of suede-felt and soleil, sometimes with smartly upturned brims and sometimes with brims that just as smartly stand out about the sides of the face.

RU-BER-OLD SHINGLES AND ROOFING

30 Years without Repairs

On many industrial plants, Ruberoid Roll-roofing has given twenty, twenty-five and thirty years' service. This is a record which can be equaled by no other similar product.

In the circle above is illustrated a piece of Ruberoid taken from a thirty-year old roof. During this entire period, this roof has never been repaired and it has never leaked.

The name "Ruberoid" in connection with roofing products—whether in roll, built-up or shingle form—is synonymous with permanency and the best that can be obtained. It will pay you to see that the name Ruberoid and the Man trade mark are on the label of the roofings you buy.

Our Children

BY ANGELO PATRI THE DREAMER Dreaming has a place, a respected place, in the life of a child. Life bears down hard on little children and nature gave them a door of escape into dreamland. Here they rest, live in their imagination, gather strength and courage for the next step in the world of everyday.

Too much dreaming is a signal for an investigation. When a child sits and dreams before a bit of work, loses himself in class, forgets to keep an appointment, it is time to search for the cause. It is plain that the child is escaping from something that seems too hard to bear. We must find what that is if we can.

If he is in school search thoroughly there. What sort of teacher has he? Does her temperament and his clash, or are they harmonious. That is highly important. How about the speed at which he is required to work? If it is too fast, or too slow, he will escape to dream. How does he measure up to the rest of the class? Far ahead or far behind? Is there any one subject in which he fails regularly, or one in which he is far in advance? Again there is room for dreaming.

And how about home? Is life there kind to him? Is everybody patient and considerate of the child in their midst? Do they speak gently? Do they deal with him as with a timid soul, one just venturing into a lane of uncertainty and fear? So they remember always that fear is very easily created and very very difficult to lay?

Is he a healthy child? Are you sure? Sometimes bad vision, poor hearing, a gland out of balance, an aching tooth, will cause so much trouble that the child retreats to a safe place within himself. An examination by a child specialist every six months is a safeguard well worth while.

Dreaming beyond the safety point becomes a dangerous habit. It is sometimes carried on through the years and the person so afflicted cannot learn to work. He fails to realize the necessity for work and falls into day dreams. When any situation that seems hard to face arises, he, instead of facing it like a grownup person, takes refuge in dreaming. Habit is hard to break.

When a child dreams of doing things that make him a hero know that he is telling you that he is failing in his daily life and that he needs help to succeed enough to give him a feeling of efficiency. Give him a chance to succeed even if you have to invent ways and means of providing for it.

Try to find a specialty for such a child—something that he can do better than anybody else. There is always something. One lad could blow bubbles better than any other lad on the block and that saved him. A little girl could stand on one foot longer than any of the little girls who were ahead of her in class and that saved her.

Give the child one bit of success to which he can hold and he is well on the way out of dreamland. Find it. You can if you try.

$10,000 DAMAGE SUIT STILL ON IN COURT

Neenah—Testimony in the $10,000 damage suit of Mrs. Icy Jensen of Menasha, against the Soo Railway company, is still in progress in circuit court. Medical testimony was taken Monday. It was the sixth day of the jury trial.

The plaintiff was struck by a rail-way crossing gate at Forest Park, Ill., a year ago. Testimony regarding the accident was contradictory. On the part of the plaintiff it has been held that the gates were raised when she started to walk across the tracks, while it testified that the gates were lowering and that the plaintiff stooped to hurry beneath them.

Doctors have examined and cross-examined as to Mrs. Jensen's condition, following the accident and as to her general physical condition before the accident. There is a claim of permanent injury.

STILP FRACTURES RIB IN FOOTBALL GAME

STATE GETS EAGLE SHOT AT NEENAH

One Man Fined, Warrant Issued for Another for Killing Protected Bird

Neenah—One man has been fined and a warrant issued for another as result of the shooting on an eagle on the Otto Meller farm, route 3, near here. The man fined was Robert Dumke, charged with having the bird in his possession, while it is reported that Mueller will be arrested for shooting the bird, which is protected in Wisconsin.

Dumke's fine of $50 was levied by Justice Chris Jensen. The complainant was Alfred Dunham, a conservation commissioner. Justice Jensen ordered the bird turned over to the conservation commission which will have it stuffed and placed in the Milwaukee museum.

The eagle measured nearly seven feet from tip to tip. It was shot by Mueller as it was about to carry off a young pig on Mueller's farm.

BOY BRIGADE RECRUITS RECEIVE FIRST DRILL

Neenah—Boy Brigade recruits, numbering 40, were given their first floor work Monday evening at Wesley hall when Capt. Leo Schubart directed the drill. The work with recruits will continue every Monday evening until the first of November when the older boys with Brigades experience will join. It is estimated that the total enrollment this season will exceed 150 boys, the largest in the history of the organization. After the entire company is enlisted, two evenings, Monday and Tuesday, will be required for drills. The company will be divided into two sections.

LEGION AUXILIARY INSTALLS OFFICERS

Neenah—James P. Hawley post American Legion auxiliary met Monday evening to install its newly elected officers. The work was conducted by Mrs. Helen K. Stuart. The officers seated were Mrs. T. D. ## $102 DEPOSITED BY PUPILS AT NEENAH

Neenah—A total of $102.26 was deposited by 515 pupils Tuesday morning during the weekly banking period at the four grade schools. At Lincoln school the total was $31.25 by 111 pupils, at Roosevelt school, $27.67 by 171 pupils; at McKinley school, $19.50 by 55 pupils and at Washington school, $23.71 by 128 pupils.

TWIN CITY DEATHS

EDWARD HOLLERAN—Neenah—Funeral services for Edward Holleran, who died Monday noon at his home on Garfield-ave, will be conducted at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Patrick's church. The services will be conducted by the Rev. George Clifford. Burial will be at St. Patrick cemetery.

PETER DIEHL—Neenah—Funeral services for Peter Diehl, 64, who died at Theda Clark hospital Saturday night, were held from the Laemmrich funeral home at 612 Milwaukee-st, at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, the Rev. Alvin Rahel officiating. Interment was made in Oak Hill cemetery.

Diehl was a resident of this city for 45 years and was an alderman from the Second ward in 1920-21. He is survived by one son, Carl Diehl of Menasha; two step-children, Mrs. Albert Merkley of Tacoma, Wash. and Mrs. Fred Diehl of Appleton; one brother, Fred Diehl of Appleton; and three sisters, Mrs. Christina Franz of Kaukauna, Mrs. Caroline Mitchell of Hollandtown and Mrs. Liza Ferke of Sherwood.

RED CROSS CHAPTER MEETS THURSDAY NIGHT

Neenah—The meeting of local Red Cross authorities, postponed Friday evening because of interference with other activities, will be held in the city office at 4:30 Thursday afternoon. Fall activities and plans for the annual membership drive will be discussed.

GOES TO JAIL FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Menasha—Benjamin Brown, Menasha, was found guilty of disorderly conduct when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kolaskinski Tuesday morning and was fined $25 or sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. He failed to pay the fine and was turned over to county authorities later in the day.

Alvin Winters, arrested by Menasha police on another disorderly charge, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs in justice court Tuesday morning.

MENASHA GRIDDERS TO MEET TWO RIVERS

Lineup in Doubt as Second String Men Work for Positions

Menasha—Smartering under the 13 to 0 defeat administered by the New London eleven last Friday evening, the Menasha high school football team has started preparation for the Two Rivers tilt at Butte des Morts field Friday evening. The game against the Two Rivers squad will be the third home attraction of the season and another large crowd is expected.

It is expected that number of the second string warriors will be working in first team positions during the week's practices in recognition of the type of play exhibited by the lighter grid warriors in the preliminary attraction against Kimberly in the double header Friday night. Whether changes will be made in the regular starting lineup against the invading Two Rivers aggregation has not been decided.

With two defeats and one victory behind them, the Caldermen are working to develop offensive and defensive power, especially in the forward line. Changes in the first string backfield are improbable, it is believed.

LOCAL SCOUT TROOPS AT REGULAR MEETINGS

Menasha—The weekly meetings of the Woodmen and Congressional divisions of Menasha boy scouts were held Monday evening. The former met in the Woodmenware cafeteria under the direction of John McAndrews and the latter in the church gymnasium under the direction of Robert Schwartz, recently named scout head.

The Episcopal troop officers held a dinner meeting at the William Kellett residence Monday evening. The regular weekly meeting will be held in the church parlors Tuesday evening.

CITY COUNCIL EXPECTS COMMISSION PETITION

Menasha—Menasha residents who filed the petition for a city water and light committee at the common council meeting Oct. 7 are expected to file the completed document with the city clerk on or before Friday. Those who circulated the petition were given 10 days in which to secure the additional names necessary to make it legal and Friday is the final day.

The council was unable to act on the petition last week. An insufficient number of signers, registered as voters, was announced by the city clerk and the petition was returned to the filers on the following day. Action on the question is expected at the regular meeting of the council, Oct. 21.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS IN WEEKLY SCHEDULE

Menasha—The Marquettes bowled a team total of 2,591 pins to swamp the Allovez leggers in three straight games in Knights of Columbus bowling on Hendy Recreation alleys Monday evening. The Cordovas took three games from the Crusaders but won the second game by a margin of one pin.

The San Pedro Five faltered to drop the third game to the Plankington team, but the two tills by comfortable margins. Although the DeSotos lost the first two games to the Santa Marias, I. Stip, topped 211 pins in the third contest to lift his team to a single win.

MAYOR AND COUNCIL TO ATTEND GYM DEDICATION

Menasha—Mayor N. G. Remmel and the common council will attend the formal dedication of the new St. Mary's gymnasium Tuesday evening. The new building, only recently completed, will be opened for public inspection and an appropriate dedication program has been arranged by St. Mary school board.

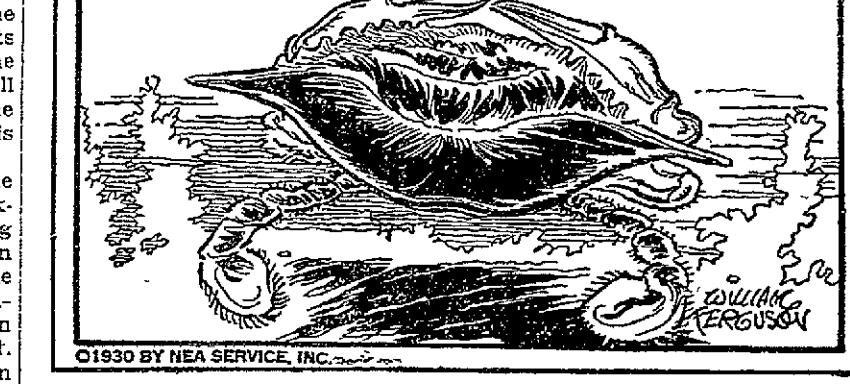

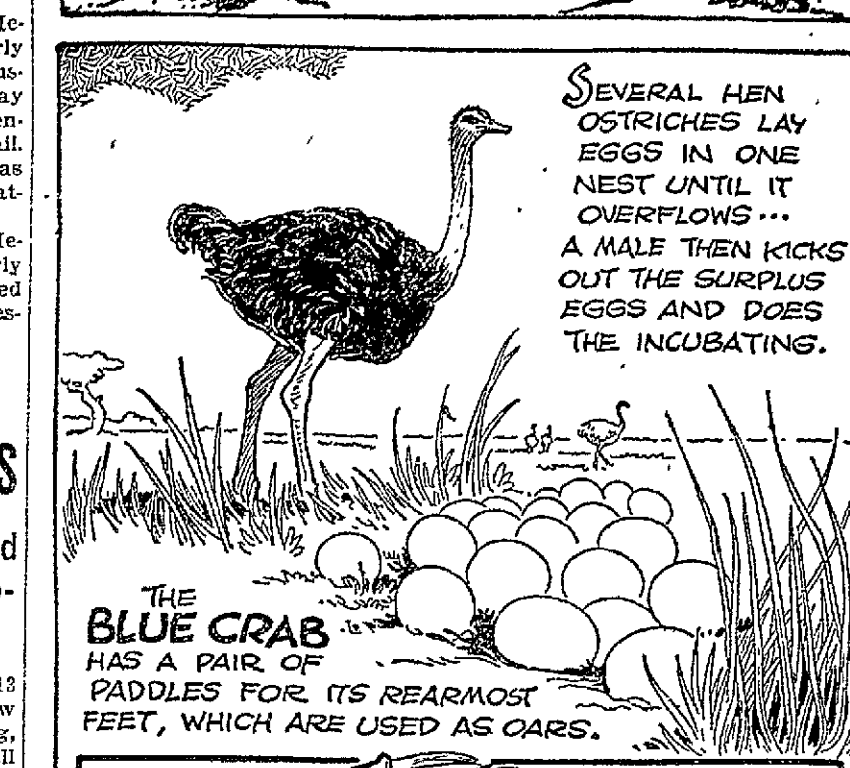

St. Mary high school band, under the direction of the Rev. Father Joseph Becker, will present a number of selections and several prominent speakers have been secured.

HUMORIST, LECTURER TO APPEAR AT SCHOOL

Menasha—Jess Pugh, humorist and lecturer, will appear for the benefit of Menasha high school students in the high school assembly Friday morning. Pugh's appearance is the first of a group of three entertainments that have been secured by Principal Ray Pink, through the high school assembly entertainment program. The remaining programs will appear in the near future, it is expected.

ARTERIAL JUMPER IS FINED $2 AND COSTS

Menasha—Myron Daigle was fined $2 and costs Monday evening when he pleaded guilty of jumping an arterial sign. He was arrested by Menasha police Saturday and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kolaskinski, Monday evening.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—Catholic Daughters of America will elect officers at the Knights of Columbus lodge rooms Tuesday evening. Following the business meeting and election, a social meeting is planned.

Bryan Blue lodge of Menasha Massons met in the chapter rooms Monday evening. A business session was held.

A large attendance was recorded at the public card party sponsored by the Sanctuary society of St. Patrick's parish in the school hall Monday afternoon and evening. Bridge whist and schafkopf were played and a luncheon served.

The regular weekly meeting of the Menasha study club was held at the home of Mrs. E. W. Griswold Monday evening. Members answered roll call by naming their favorite piece of statuary and a discussion of American Sculptors, led by Mrs. W. Brooks, featured the meeting.

Auxiliary to the Germania Benevolent society met in the Menasha auditorium Monday evening. Following a business session, a social meeting was held.

The Germania Benevolent society will sponsor the fourth of a series of dancing parties in the Menasha Auditorium Thursday evening. Tommy Temple's band will furnish the music.

Third Ward Royal Neighbors will be entertained Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Henry Melchert. Bridge and schafkopf will be played and a luncheon served.

Menasha Eastern Star will entertain at a 6:30 dinner in the Mason lodge rooms Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. H. O. Haugh, who was recently named Grand Ruth of the Grand Eastern Star Chapter. A regular meeting will follow the dinner.

The Twin City Business and Professional Women's club will meet in St. Thomas Parish house at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. A Halloween party has been planned and an entertainment program is being arranged by committee workers.

Menasha Odd Fellows lodge will sponsor the second of a series of bi-monthly dancing parties in the Memorial building Saturday evening. A large attendance is expected.

Ladies of St. Mary's parish will sponsor the weekly card party in the St. Mary's gymnasium Wednesday afternoon and evening. A lunch will be served and the public is invited.

NAME MORE MEMBERS TO ORDINANCE GROUP

Menasha—Additional members of the committee on ordinance and printing to assist M. G. Crowley, city attorney, in the revision and codification of city ordinances, were named by Mayor N. G. Remmel, Monday. The original committee, composed of Aldermen Kelly, Grode and Lingnolski, has been enlarged by the appointment of Alderman Small and Schlierl with Alderman McGillan and Heckrodt as alternates. The committee will convene at call of the city attorney.

POLICE WARN AGAINST MOVING FREIGHT CARS

Menasha—Following a complaint that men and boys have been moving box cars near the Butte des Morts field in order to witness the night football games without paying admission, Police Chief James Lyman has issued an order to arrest all offenders. The practice is dangerous in the extreme, the chief pointed out, and violators of the laws covering such activity will be apprehended and punished.

New York—Sidney Franklin, flat-bush treader, back from Spain, has no plans to introduce bullfighting into the United States. "There would be too much competition from the miniature golf courses I have heard about," he explained.

Nationalists Meet Hard Job Wiping Out Bandits

Shanghai—(AP)—With the nationalist military at Nanking professing turning its attention from the civil war in the north to the eradication of communists south of the river, reports today on conditions throughout the red-infested areas indicated a formidable task awaited government troops.

Kiukiang advices revealed communist depredations in Kiangsi province continued practically unabated and additional up-river dispatches said the reds seemed to be shifting their major headquarters from Hunan province into Kiangsi. The reds were not falling, however, to main-line sufficient forces in Hunan to control that area.

The purpose of the apparent shift from Hunan to Kiangsi was not revealed. However, Nanchang dispatches estimated there were upwards of 100,000 well armed outlaws, labelled communists, operating in Kiangsi and adding that it seemed apparent Kiangsi would become the home of communist activities in central China.

Although Nanchang, reported seriously threatened by communists, was virtually evacuated of mission-aries and foreigners, provincial authorities there, despite meager resources and small numbers of troops whose loyalty was questioned, were seeking to defend the city from possible attack.

A threefold defense line has been constructed about the city, consisting of electric wire barricades, sand-bag trenches and a series of forts beyond the defense lines. Seeking to finance emergency expenditures and to pay soldiers, whose wages are in arrears at least four months, authorities clamped on a severe property tax. This resulted in increased funds but it was believed the action would further cripple areas already sadly suffering from lack of trade.

Throughout Hunan province the reds continue to control the population, both Chinese and the few remaining foreigners. Foreigners at Changsha, Hunan capital, have not yet departed though it was recently reported they had decided to evacuate.

Consumption of foreign goods in Hanyan, which once amounted to a huge figure, has dwindled to a fraction of the former amount as a result of the red invasion and the constant strain upon the province's financial resources.

Foreign companies operating in Hunan, such as oil and tobacco interests, reported business in that province prostrated, the reds having severed communications and robbed the populace until the latter was unable to buy foreign goods. Oil companies said the people had quit buying kerosene and returned to the use of native oils for illumination purposes. Tobacco companies said their sales were negligible.

Commercial authorities believe Hunan province is destined to many months of poverty and hardships, even if the reds are routed immediately.

Red kidnappings of wealthy Chinese for ransom and the plundering of ships for loot which is distributed to virtually destitute peasants continues on a wide scale in Hunan. Shipping on the Yangtze river has felt communistic plundering sharply.

JURY STILL DEBATING MRS. LEENEY'S FATE

Chicago—(AP)—A jury resumed its efforts today to reach a verdict in the case of Mrs. Florence Leoney, charged with slaying her husband. When balloting ended last night the jury was reported evenly divided in its opinion of her guilt. The state had demanded the death penalty.

Leoney was shot to death at his home Jan. 2. The state contended that Mrs. Leoney fired upon him as he slept. Mrs. Leoney testified she fired in self-defense when he threatened to kill her.

DAZZLING TREASURES IN LONDON FOR EXHIBIT

LONDON—(AP)—Priceless crown jewels, gold and silver thread carpets, and dazzling treasures and relics worth millions from the sacred mosques of Kum and Isfahan were landed today on the dingy stones of Thameside wharf.

They were consigned to Burlington house where a Persian art exhibit opens in January. The treasures completed the last stage of their journey from Persia on the cargo steamer Bahadistan, which brought them from the island of Abadan in the Persian gulf.

This Arabian riches collection was flown in four airplanes across the wild mountains and trackless deserts between Persia and the Persian gulf so that they would not fall into hands of the wild mountain tribes.

TAKE TESTIMONY FROM UTILITIES ON LEGAL RIGHTS

Commission Seeks to Determine Who Can Furnish Power in Village

Kaukauna—Final testimony was taken Monday by the Wisconsin Railroad commission to determine which of three utilities has the legal right to furnish electric power in the village of Combined Locks, at the third hearing held here on the matter. The utilities involved were the Kaukauna municipal utility, Wisconsin Michigan Power company and the South Shore Utility company.

At the first hearing early this summer the South Shore Utility representatives gave testimony which involved the Combined Locks Paper company as a utility. Andrew McDonald, head of the commission, who conducted the hearings, adjourned the first hearing to a later date so that the Combined Locks Paper company could be represented at the hearing. Officials from this company declined to be represented at the second hearing so all testimony referring to the Paper company was objected to and was not accepted by the commission.

Investigation of the testimony given showed that the testimony submitted by the South Shore Utility was necessary in order to settle the matter, according to the commission and a third hearing was held here Monday. The hearing was conducted and the restricted testimony was accepted.

CHURCH CHOIR TO OFFER SHORT PLAY

Presentation Will Be Made at Lutheran School Auditorium Friday Night

Kaukauna—"Little Mother Baker," by G. L. Wind, will be presented by the Trinity Lutheran church choir of Neenah at the Trinity Lutheran school auditorium Friday evening. It is a three-act play with eight characters.

Mother Baker, played by Miss Gertrude Day, lives alone in the world. Her only son was killed in France. Hazel Martin, characterized by Miss Gertrude Woelken, and her little brother, Buddy, played by George Dix, try to make life more pleasant for her. A stranger comes to Mother Baker and she induces him to change from the wrong kind of life he had been leading.

He is Tom Gale, played by Gus Kalfans. He makes good and finally falls in love with Hazel. Harry Thompson, played by Carl Breaker, is jealous and he digs up Tom's past and tells Hazel. She is stunned when Tom is silent to the accusations. He goes away and is not seen or heard of for a year. He turns up successful and happy and the misunderstanding is cleared up.

Other characters in the play are Fanny Tinkle, town gossip, played by Miss Ellen Rahn, and Aunt Clara Martin, played by Miss Gertrude Zimdars. Entertainment between acts will be given by Carl Breaker, Edward Larson and Albert Fahrenkrug.

MILK FLOW DOWN BUT FARMERS GET LESS FOR PRODUCT

Producers Receiving 3 Cents a Quart for Product, Testing 3.5 Per Cent

BY W. F. WINSEY

Inquiries addressed in this city and to milk producers about the city showed that the flow of milk on the farms has been cut down to three-fourths of normal by the drought and the consequent shortage of pasture. The farmers are getting three cents and a small fraction of a cent per quart for 3.5 per cent milk and the consumers are paying ten cents per quart. None of the farmers are having their cows tested for milk and butterfat production and therefore, have no check on their individual cows nor herds nor on the tests written on their milk checks upon which their payments for milk are used.

In more prosperous times farmers supplying Appleton with milk got four cents per quart for milk and the city consumer paid eight cents per quart.

It appeared from the investigation that the farmer price of milk gradually drops in proportion to the decrease in production and that the consumers price remains at the high level elevations attained.

Other inquiries addressed to the same farmers, showed that because it will not keep and cannot be stored growers are now forced to sell their crops of early cabbage considerably below the cost of production. After planting their beds, plowing, dragging, fertilizing, cultivating their fields all summer, cutting, loading and hauling their early cabbage to market, the growers are now getting four dollars per ton for their crop.

Of Interest To Farmers

POTATOES SHOW BIG IMPROVEMENT

Total Crop Better Throughout Country, but Worse in Wisconsin

While Wisconsin prospects declined considerably during the past month because of the lack of rain in important potato counties, the total potato crop for the United States improved materially. According to reports of the Crop Reporting Service of the Wisconsin and United States Department of Agriculture at Madison, the potatoes in Wisconsin failed to make much additional growth during September. At the beginning of September with the vines generally green the prospects were that good rains in the important potato counties would bring about considerable improvement. The rains did not come in these areas in sufficient quantities until the last week in September which was too late for most fields.

Since the potatoes in Wisconsin's leading cash crop, there is widespread interest in it. Wisconsin's production is now estimated at 18,704,000 bushels for 1930 as compared with 20,240,000 bushels harvested a year ago, and a five year average production of 27,624,000 bushels. The United States potato production is now estimated at 325,206,000 bushels as compared with 359,736,000 bushels a year ago, and a five year average of 352,805,000 bushels.

During the past month the United States estimate has been increased by nearly thirteen million bushels because of rather favorable weather conditions in some of the leading potato states. Improved yields are reported for Maine, the leading potato state. The forecasts now are: Maine 44,180,000 bushels, New York 28,885,000 bushels, Pennsylvania 20,000,000 bushels, Idaho 23,835,000 bushels and Colorado 13,780,000 bushels. In Wisconsin and neighboring states there was no improvement in the potato situation during the past month, the Wisconsin potatoes declining considerably because of lack of rain.

More than the usual portion of the potato crop in the state is running to small sizes, though quality is generally reported to be fairly satisfactory. Digging is mostly completed. No serious frost damage occurred since there were practically no heavy frosts until the last days in September, and then only in parts of Wisconsin.

One of the unusual things this year is the fact that early potatoes yielded better than late varieties. Early planted fields of late potatoes also yielded much better than late planted fields which is not true most years. According to Wisconsin crop reporters, 19 per cent of the potato acreage in the state is in early varieties and 81 per cent in later varieties.

AN OLD BABY

London—"Who's the baby of this family?" asked the deputy coroner in a recent inquest concerning the Kennedy family. "I am," replied James Kennedy. "How old are you?" asked the deputy. "Seventy-five," James replied. Then it was found that he had one brother who was 85, one sister and a sister 89.

It Is Time to Push

A NEW season is upon us. It is a season rich in rewards for all who have the stamina to stand by America.

This country is, and has been for some time past, in the soundest economical condition of any country in the world.

Nothing can effectually stem the course of her progress. Neither doubt nor pessimism can cloud the evidence of vitality which shines through at this time.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) does not presume to prophecy. Unfortunately there have been too many prophets and too few patrons of business during the past nine months.

This company comes forward with direct and tangible evidence that industry is quickening to the new season—rousing itself to action.

The industrial lubrication department of this organization reflects this activity. Manufacturing plants that were previously inactive have recently placed orders for industrial lubricants. More and more concerns which were running along at average capacity, now increase their orders for lubricants.

Happily, this condition cannot be isolated. If orders for lubricants are being placed, then orders for other commodities are being placed with other concerns. That means more capital is being spent.

Mark the significance of this news.

It is an accurate index. It indicates that business has ploughed through the worst of the period of depression.

It is time to push. It is time for industry, in general, to mobilize its forces. It is time for every man and woman in America to look squarely to the solid structure of the country, and not at the shifting fogs which doubt and pessimism create.

It is time to spend—time to buy. It is time to get into stride with the new season.

SHOULD PICK WOOD THAT HOLDS PAINT

Forest Products Laboratory Offers Suggestions on Selecting Timber

To help home-builders to avoid replacing a new house too soon, the Forest Products Laboratory, maintained by the Forest Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Madison, Wis., offers suggestions on the selection of siding and trim that will hold a paint coating intact as long as possible.

The grain of the wood is of great importance in painting, the Forest Service investigators say. "Edge-grained boards hold paint far better than flat-grained boards. Among flat-grained boards, those surfaced and painted on the bark side (the side nearer the bark log) are more satisfactory to paint than those turned plth side out because there is less danger of the grain shelling out. Selection by kinds of grain is difficult when purchasing many kinds of lumber, however, because as a rule only lumber cut from very large trees can be economically separated in this way.

"Knots and pitch play a large part in the grading of lumber. Since they give trouble in painting, the select grades of lumber which permit few defects are more satisfactory to paint than the common grades. Knots in both white and yellow pines seem to be more objectionable from the viewpoint of painting than sound knots in woods like the cedars, hemlocks, white fir and larch."

The wood of many species varies greatly in density and texture and therefore in painting characteristics. Light boards and boards of fine texture hold paint better than heavy boards and boards of coarse texture. Density and texture therefore afford the most satisfactory basis for selecting the best wood to paint, wherever it proves practicable to consider them.

These and other points on the paintability of different kinds of wood are contained in a new leaflet, 22-1, Why Some Wood Surfaces Hold Paint Longer Than Others, which the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., will send free as long as the supply lasts.

For home alfalfa growers a more popular brand could be adopted than the one suggested by Prof. Moore.

LINDBERGH BUYS FARM LAND IN NEW JERSEY

Special Dispatch To Post-Crescent New York—(CPA)—It is indicated the Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh plans to cut down on his traveling and settle down. The colonel today confirmed a report that he had bought 150 acres of farm property near Princeton, New Jersey. He said he probably would build a home there within a year.

While the property has enough level space for clearance for a small plane, it is not indicated that the colonel plans a flying field. His father and grandfather were farmers, but his friends say he never has been interested in agriculture and probably has bought the property solely for an estate. At present it is officially listed as a resident of Louis.

How Are Your Brakes?

If you do not know what condition they are in, drive your car onto our Jumbo Giant Brake Tester and find out. The test takes but a few minutes. The percentage power on each wheel is simultaneously recorded on their respective gauges. Brake action thus recorded should be equalized or perfectly balanced.

If your brakes are weak or uneven we can quickly set them in perfect balance. Perfect balance not only assures quick stopping but also eliminates the dangers of skidding and pulling to one side.

Ken Laird, Charlie Barnes Lost To Viking Squad

VETERAN PLAYERS MAY BE OUT FOR REST OF SEASON

Both Were Hurt in Wisconsin Game; Injuries Not Healing Properly

ACED with the grim realization that he is minus one veteran end and a quarter back who gave promise of leading the Lawrence college football team to numerous victories, Coach Eddie Kotal of the Vikings Monday set about finding a couple new players to take their places.

TWO LAIRDS HURT
The injury to Ken Laird, Lawrence co-captain and end is the second football injury in the family this fall. A younger brother, Jimmy, who plays on the high school football team suffered a broken collarbone several weeks ago and had to submit to hospital treatment before the bones began to knit. The boys are sons of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Laird, Black Creek.

at least three weeks and perhaps for the remainder of the season are Kenneth Laird, end and co-captain, and Charlie Barnes, a quarterback who has been running the team this fall. Laird broke his jaw in the Wisconsin game, the same jaw having been fractured last spring. The bones began to knit and then it was discovered that they were not healing properly and surgeons were forced to re-break the jaw last week. Laird now is convalescing at his home and whether he will again don a suit is a question.

Barnes suffered a badly twisted ankle in the Wisconsin game, and spent a week in the infirmary. The ankle hasn't responded to treatment and he also is at his home convalescing.

Less of both players has hurt the Vikings considerably although the passing of Laird who had been on the squad for three years and who could more than hold his own with any Big Four Midwest conference wingmen hurts most. Not only that but Coach Kotal hasn't any extra ends and probably will have to shuffle his entire lineup to secure a couple new wingmen.

With Jupe Pluvius sending some of the rain he forgot last summer Kotal has had the Vikings working indoors as they prepare for their first 1930 home game, Saturday afternoon. Hamline university eleven of St. Paul furnishes the opposition for the Vikings.

If all his strength were available, Kotal wouldn't feel bad about facing the Pipers, but with matters becoming almost as dark as the weather he is making plans to ease out a win over the invaders in some way, shape or manner.

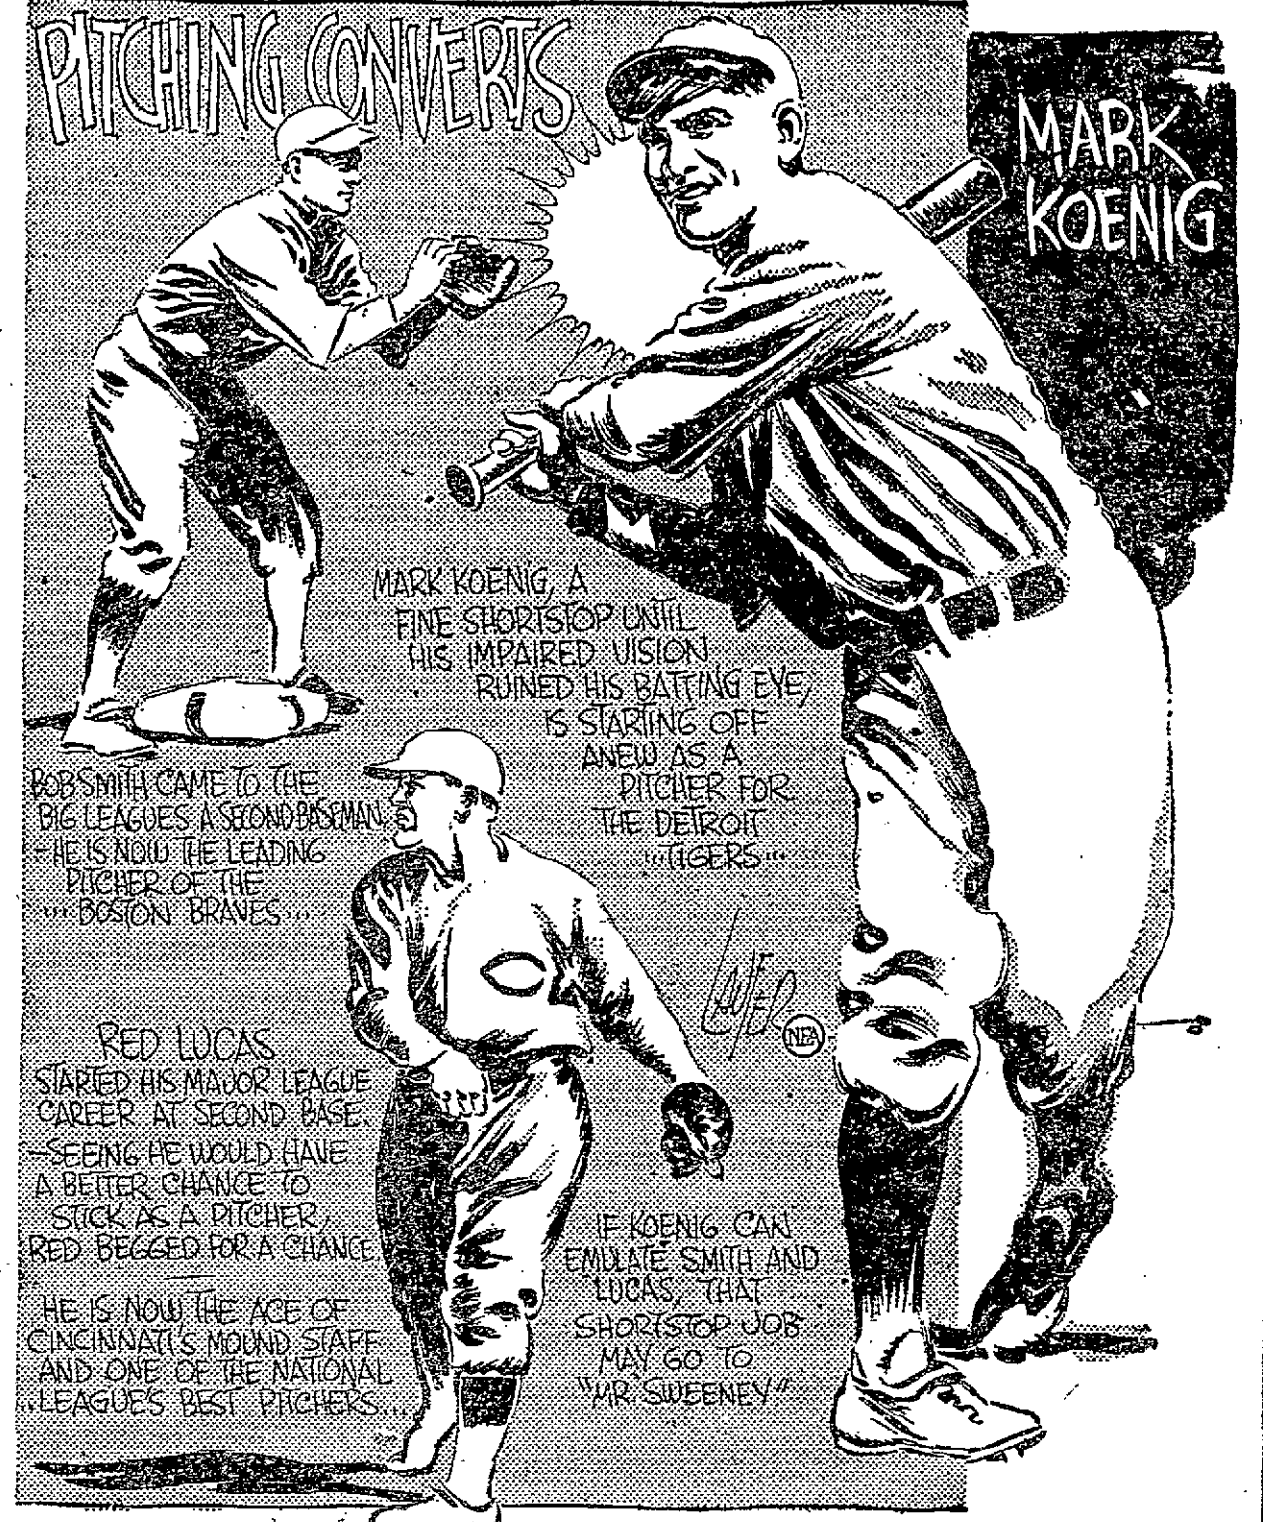

The Vike coach also must look forward to the following weekend when his squad meets the strong Carroll college eleven as the feature of the annual Lawrence homecoming celebration.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS ... By Laufer

Gophers Showed Well In Holding Stanford

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
Copyright 1930
CHICAGO — (CPA) — Sporting philosophers have so long recognized the advantage held by the under-dog in any intercollegiate contest that the wonder is that odds in betting do not inevitably favor the under-dog. On the evening when opponents of major class meet upon the gridiron.

In the case of Minnesota and Stanford last Saturday the Gophers went into the game with nothing to lose, not even prestige, while the Cardinals, battered, bruised and heart-stricken in the Santa Clara game of Oct. 4, were burdened with the responsibility that they were a superior outfit. The Gophers had but a moral victory to win and thought that would come either through defeat by a close margin or a tie game.

They held, in other words, all the moral cards and they had but to play them carefully, while upon the Cardinals was placed the stress and strain of living up to the extravagant performance expected of them.

Defensively the Cardinals did very well, but to face facts frankly they would have merited opprobrium had they failed to solve that openwork deception of the Gophers and to check power plays short of radical games. On attack they were most certainly not up to expectations, not up to what they are capable of doing.

That formation C of Stanford's has the weakness of advertising an overhead play, even granting a pass did not always grow out of it. With the ends wide and the backs filling the holes to work on the defensive backs they were unable to break up forward pass formations. It did not work out in this way against the Minnesota pair, although it may later when strong rushes and laterals are perfected out of this formation.

The reverses and double reverses moved with too great deliberation to face the defense and as all who know the Cardinal attack were aware the team does not do much scoring when these back-ground plays are not clicking swiftly.

BADGER GRIDDERS OUT WITH INJURIES

Thisty Takes Squad Out To-night Against Frosh Using Penn Plays

BY STANLEY KALISH
Associated Press Sports Writer
MADISON — (P) — Injuries threatened to undermine the Wisconsin football team's manpower as preparations for the first major test of the year against Pennsylvania here Saturday got under way yesterday afternoon.

Three men were numbered on the list of those incapacitated. Russ Rebolz, sport merchant and leading scorer, reported with an injured neck, the result of a twist during the game against Chicago last Saturday. Big John Schneller, the crashing sophomore fullback, had a boil on his neck, while "Bob" Engleke, who starred at tackle against the Maroons, went out during yesterday's drill. Engleke got a bad bump on an ankle and had to be assisted from the field during a blocking drill. Sam Behr was missing from practice, but was reported physically O. K.

With three games already demonstrating that a strong offense is a good defense, Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite continued to polish the Badger scoring attack. He passed out new plays, mainly of the air route type, and then sent his squad through a long signal drill. Punting was the only other important item. Joe Linfor, Tury Oman, and Bill Lusby shared honors in getting off a group of good spirals.

The workout was generally light, but the serious drills are expected to get under way today with Coach Guy Sundt trotting over some of his freshmen to put on Pennsylvania's attack as reported by scouts.

BERNICE WALL TO MEET MRS. HILL

Wisconsin Entrant in Women's Meet Faces Strong Opposition Today

Los Angeles — (P) — A duel of championship calibre was in prospect here today as two of the middle-west's most promising entries in the national women's golf championship, Mrs. Opal S. Hill, and Miss Bernice Wall, both semi-finalists a year ago, opposed each other in the feature clash of first round match play.

Mrs. Hill of Kansas City, who took up golf on a doctor's advice six years ago, yesterday started the 96 feminine stylists by finishing two under par to lead the qualifying round with a 79 over the trying Los Angeles Country club's north course.

Miss Wall, from Oshkosh, finished with an 87 but was fortified for today's match with a goodly record in competition.

The defending champion, Miss Glenn Collett, seeking her fifth crown, faced Miss Harry Grossman of Los Angeles, an opponent scarcely expected to cause her trouble.

Miss Helen Hicks, the 19-year-old Inwood, N. Y. girl, self educated in the ancient and royal game, and medalist in 1929, took second in the qualifying play with an 80.

She was matched with Lucille De Long, 18-year-old Coronado, Calif., player, in today's bracket.

The match will be at 159 rounds, played in three blocks of 50 points each.

17-YEAR-OLD JOCKEY RIDES 72 WINNERS

Louisville, Ky. — (P) — Jockey Eugene James, 17, former Louisville newsboy, within little more than three months has developed into the rising sensation of the west and now has a record of 72 winners during his brief career.

James rode three winners at Churchill Downs yesterday, bringing his total for the meet to 15. He rode his first winner at Latonia July 11.

MAX SHIMON DEFENDS THREE CUSHION TITLE

Chicago — (P) — The challenge match for the national amateur three-cushion billiard championship between Max Shimon of Milwaukee, defending titleholder and Robert Harper of Denver will be played at the Denver Athletic club, Oct. 15 to 18, inclusive.

Northwestern Gridders Vaccinated For Smallpox; Rockne Pushes Ramblers

ROCKNE WORRIED?
Kneute Rockne proved he was not fooling when he said Carnegie Tech was his biggest worry by sending the Notre Dame regulars through a hard two hours of work yesterday. Rockne usually rests the regulars and shock troops on Monday, but they started the week with a mid-week type of practice. The return of Larry Mullins, number one fullback, brought the Irish to full power.

Wisconsin and Chicago prepared for intercollegiate triumph over their overwhelming triumph over Chicago Saturday, began organizing against the invasion of Pennsylvania in an almost confident frame of mind. At Chicago, however, only A. A. Stagg, Sr., failed to be downcast over the Wisconsin defeat, and the prospect of facing Florida's Alligators, without Captain Errat Van Nica, who suffered a recurrence of a leg injury and will not be available Saturday.

Michigan jumped into the task of preparing for its dearest rival, Ohio State, in high spirits following its defeat of Purdue. Coach Kipke gave out more lateral and forward passing plays, with Roy Hudson, a Southpaw kicker and passer, doing the throwing. The Buckeyes had an easy day yesterday, but Coach Villaman had a stiff drill on today's schedule.

CUBS BUY PITCHER FROM PHILADELPHIA

Claim Move Is First Step to Bring World Title to Chicago

Chicago — (P) — The latest flourish of William Wrigley's checkbook has made Lester Sweetland, a left-handed pitcher, a member of the Cubs, and other flourishes, calculated to bring the National league championship back to Chicago, may be expected soon.

President William L. Veck of the club, yesterday announced the purchase of Sweetland from the Philadelphia Nationals, for whom the southpaw worked during the past two seasons. The deal was strictly cash, and while Veck did not reveal the amount involved, it was reported that the Philly treasury is $25,000 better off.

In announcing the purchase of Sweetland, who won six games and lost 15, according to unofficial figures for 1929, Veck said the deal was "the first move toward building up the pitching staff." He did not say who might be the next hurler purchased, but more reports said Rogers Hornsby wanted another whose contract belongs to the Phillies.

The name of Pinky Whitney, Philly third baseman, has been mentioned in connection with the Cub strengthening plans. Veck also declined to comment on any way or the other on this report.

Sweetland, who is 29 years old, had his best major league season in 1929, when he won 13 games and lost 11 with the Phillies.

RUSS REBHOLZ TOPS WISCONSIN SCORERS

Madison — (P) — Wisconsin's high-scoring football team can claim several records among the major midwestern teams. With 115 points it is leading the midwestern scorers. Russ Rebholz, halfback, is claimed to be the leading individual scorer with 33 points, obtained through six touchdowns and nine points after touchdowns. The Badgers have gained 905 yards from scrimmage in three games and eight Wisconsin backfield men averaged better than five yards at every try. Rebholz was the leader with 15 1/2 yard in 15 tries at enemy lines, or better than ten yards each time.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Des Moines Ia. — Mickey Walker, world middleweight champion, stopped Mike Mandell St. Paul, (1), non-title.

Philadelphia — Rene De Vos, Belgium, defeated Joe Anderson, Covington, Ky., foul, (8); Jack Covey, South Bend, Ind., stopped Wild Bill Kent, Philadelphia, (3).

Pittsburgh — Emmet Rocco, Elwood City, Pa., outpointed Tom Heene, New Zealand, (10).

Milwaukee, Wis. — Tait Littman, Milwaukee, outpointed Pete Letzo, Scranton, Pa., (10).

Salt Lake City — Manuel Quintero, Tampa, outpointed Joe Cortez, Boise, Idaho, (10).

ARMY, HARVARD CLASH SATURDAY; YALE VS. BROWN

Many Eastern Football Feuds Up for Settlement This Weekend

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK — (P) — Major football teams in the east forget all about intercollegiate rivalries this week and settle down to the serious business of settling a few ancient domestic disputes.

Topping the section's program will be the sixteenth battle between Harvard and Army at Harvard stadium. Neither yet has been extended and both have power aplenty in backfield and line. The Yale-Brown feud will be renewed at the Yale bowl. Of 35 games played since 1923, Yale has won 29, lost four and tied two. Brown last won in 1926 and, despite a 7-0 victory over Princeton, the odds are against them again this week.

Cornell's high-scoring machine will seek its fifth victory in 39 years over Princeton and the chances are all in favor of it. These colleges have met 17 times since 1891 with the Tigers winning 13 games.

Forham, which nosed out Boston college yesterday, 3-0, takes on an old foe in Holy Cross on Saturday at Worcester. These Jesuit institutions have met 13 times on the gridiron with Forham holding a 9-5 edge in victories. One game was tied.

Many other eastern feuds are up for decision. Lou Little's Columbia outfit meets Dartmouth at Hanover with the later favored Pittsburgh invades New York State to meet Syracuse with the result a toss-up. Other outstanding duels involve Villanova and St. Joseph; Lafayette and Penn State; Lehigh and Gettysburg; Temple and Washington and Jefferson; and Georgetown and Western Maryland.

New York University entertains Missouri in the Yankee stadium. Navy battles Duke at Annapolis.

LINDSTROM FAILS TO SECURE ALL-STAR TEAM

Chicago — (P) — Baseball commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, today had under advisement what should be done, if anything, about Freddy Lindstrom's failure to produce an all-star baseball team to play in the midwest.

Louis Batchelor of South Bend, Ind., charged that Lindstrom, star third baseman of the New York Giants, had promised to organize a team to play an Indiana and southwestern Michigan. Lindstrom's failure, he said, had caused him financial loss. Lindstrom said players on whom he had counted, had decided to do something else, hence, no all-star team.

YALE TOUCHDOWN WAS NOT LEGAL

Second Marker a Direct Violation of Rule 6; Elis Could Not Run Ball

New York — (P) — Georgia beat Yale by a score of 13-14 but under the rules the final count should have been 18-7. Yale's second touchdown was scored on an illegal play but no one noticed it for 24 hours.

On the play in question, Yale kicked off. The ball landed in the arms of Kelly, Georgia back, who ran a few steps before he was hit hard by Captain Vincent of Yale. The ball bounced from his arms into the hands of Barre of Yale and dashed over the goal line.

There was no protest from the Georgians when the touchdown was allowed but rule 6, governing the kickoff, says:

"If the ball is recovered by a player of the receiving team before it is declared dead, he may run with it, pass it, kick it or kick it; if the ball is kicked by a player of the kicking team the ball is dead at the point of recovery."

BOSTON NATIONALS GET TWO NEW PLAYERS

Boston — (P) — The Boston National league baseball club today announced the acquisition of Wesley Schumlerick, classy Los Angeles outfielder, and William McAfee, Chicago Cub pitching recruit, in a deal which sent pitcher Bob Smith of the Braves to Chicago and outfielder Jimmy Welsh to the Pacific coast club.

The Dancing Silhouette

BY NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN

Chapter 20
A NEW MYSTERY
S OON after the woman in blue had departed, Thorne arrived at Oaklands. He swung toward the house, but instead of approaching it when in sight of the building, left the walk and crossed the lawn, bearing to the left.

As he circled a clump of bushes he caught sight of a weird chair being slowly propelled parallel with the house. The ever-attentive Miss Kline was not there and Thorne, close enough to see Elsa's hands on the wheels, noted the dexterity with which she maneuvered the chair to her liking.

Instead of going either straight around the house, or turning back toward Thorne and continuing in that direction, she faced her chair toward the row of windows and, tilting back her head, stared up at them. By the movement of her right hand, Thorne could tell she was checking them off, counting slowly and every now and then pausing to refer to a piece of paper in her lap.

His interest thoroughly aroused, the detective approached her noiselessly. Some uncanny intuition of another's presence caused her to glance up and she tucked the chart inside her coat. The movement disclosed the small writing pad, it skidded off her knee and fell unnoticed on the turf as Thorne accosted her.

"What attracts you especially in the architecture of Oaklands?" he inquired, lifting his hat. "Its spaciousness?"

"Spaciousness is a better word," she responded quickly. "Frankly, Mr. Thorne, I shouldn't care to live in so large a house; it isn't my idea of a home."

Thorne ran his eyes swiftly over the mansion before them. "Those dormer windows," he began softly, "in the third floor, what do they open into?"

"Don't know," shrugging her shoulders. "I cannot roam upward, Mr. Thorne," touching her chair. "Why not," with a covert glance at him, "see for yourself?"

"I will," Thorne took out his cigarette case and offered it to her. "You won't smoke?" as she waved it away. "Then may I?" he selected a cigarette and, after lighting it, proffered his match box. "Take it, Miss Kline," he said.

She, it's you in surprise, with a touch of disdain. "Surely you don't think I count match boxes," turning it over; "with its red-top and blue-top matches, is unusual; in fact, I've only seen matches like it in Dr. Kane's bill folder."

"Let me see the box," Elsa straightened up and regarded it with interest. "Dr. Kane asked permission to smoke during our talk. He must have left the box in my room, for I remember now, he used his own matches."

"And took away three in his bill folder," with quiet persistence. "Why, Miss Chase?"

Again she shrugged her shoulders. "I cannot account for a man's vagaries," shortly. "Why waste time over trifles, Mr. Thorne?"

"Life is made up of trifles," he retorted. "Tell me, have you any news of Jack Winslow's whereabouts?"

Elsa eyed him steadily. "None." She sighed deeply. "Oh, Mr. Thorne, you have disappointed me," she murmured. "I have asked about you, learned such wonderful things of your career, and yet you do nothing to clear up this terrible tangle!"

"Have just a little patience," Thorne thrust his hands in his pockets and gazed down at the ground and the white writing pad caught his eye. Obviously she had dropped it.

Just then a hand fell on his shoulder and Winslow's pleasant voice sounded in his ear.

"Well, well! Why didn't Lambert tell me you had come?" he exclaimed. "Elsa, don't you think it too cold for you to linger here any longer? Come in the house, both of you."

As they progressed forward Thorne dropped back and, unseen by either Winslow or Elsa, pocketed the small scratch pad. Inside the front door Miss Kline met them and wheeled Elsa down the hall toward her bedroom.

"No news," inquired Winslow, as the two women disappeared out of hearing distance. Thorne shook his head and the older man whitened his lips. "I cannot understand," he muttered. "Is it possible, Thorne, that Jack has met with some accident?"

"The police would hear of it if he had," Thorne replied. "A description of Jack Winslow has been broadcast to every precinct and hospital." Thorne bent closer and lowered his voice. "Does Jack take down his voice?"

Winslow recoiled, his face ashen. "Good God, no!"

"So far as you know," Thorne turned a short turn about the hall. "The sir, I didn't mean to upset you, but Winslow raised tragic eyes to his 'Dismiss what I said from your mind,'" and he added more briskly, "Can I go up to your third floor?"

"Certainly," Winslow came out, his gaze and led the way to the vator. Part of the great attic, unfinished, although boarded over, Winslow bent ahead, opening the doors of different store rooms, some filled with empty trunks; one, which he unlocked with due caution, disclosed a row of wardrobes and a case of pre-war whiskey and cognac, while still others contained discarded or damaged furniture.

door at the north end of the attic refused to open as Winslow turned the knob and he looked in some perplexity at the detective.

"This is Jack's private sanctum," he explained. "He has all his junk up here. He did a lot of experimenting with chemicals at one time, and so discolored and stained the wallpaper and washstand in his bedroom, that Julia insisted that he put a place up here, where he could be as untidy as he wished. But never kept locked. I don't understand, and he shook the door viciously in his effort to open it."

Thorne laid a restraining hand on his shoulder. "No good doing that," he advised. "See, there is a lock - heavy put in."

"What shall we do?" questioned Winslow eagerly.

Thorne straightened up. "Let's go to Jack's room." An hour later Thorne admitted himself baffled; he stood once more in the middle of Jack's room and gazed slowly around. In no possible or impossible place had he found any key that would fit the lock on the door of the room in the attic; nor had he located one clue as to Jack's whereabouts.

"May I use your telephone?" he asked.

It took several minutes to get to the headquarters. Thorne instructed the sergeant to tell Inspector Mitchell, then out of the building, came as quickly as possible to Oaklands and to bring a locksmith with him.

"Why didn't Jack Winslow come forth and proclaim his innocence any participation in the murder?" Dr. Kane, his uncle's house guest, Thorne thrust his hands deep in his pockets, his old and familiar trick when debating with himself. He did so, his right hand came in contact with the scratch pad which had picked up under Elsa's chair. The first sheet was devoid of pen or pencil mark, but on close examination the detective made out the impression left when the sheet above it must have been heavily written upon by a blunt pencil.

Taking out his magnifying glass, Thorne studied the marks. The impression was fairly distinct and he made it out without difficulty - 1324 Street.

Suppose Elsa Chase had gotten word from Jack and she had told down his address?

The ringing of the door bell aroused Thorne and he stood near the entrance while Lambert admitted the plain clothes detective seeking Mr. Winslow.

"Hang around," Thorne whispered. "After you've seen Winslow, get him to take you to the attic and wait there until Inspector Mitchell comes. I'll be back later."

Report Conclusions After Comprehensive Crime Survey in New York

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON

New York—(CPA)—In one of the most comprehensive crime studies ever made in America, a sub-commission of the New York state crime commission announces its findings in a report made public today. The most striking conclusions are:

- There are no crime waves.
- That no "unit causes" of crime are discoverable.
- That repeated imprisonments are not deterrents.
- That drinking among young persons is increasing.
- That youth is in revolt.
- That the disintegration of family life contributes to crime.
- That, in cases studied, children of native born Americans or of remote foreign antecedents were in the majority among those who committed felonies.

CONTACT SMALL NUMBER
That social agencies and recreational and neighborhood betterment workers contact only 5 per cent of those whom they seek to reach.

The report was prepared by William Lewis Butcher, Jane M. Hoey and Joseph A. McGinnies, with the cooperation of virtually all leading organizations and individuals in New York, concentrating on crime studies. Entitled "Crime and the Community," it possesses unique scientific value, in that it proceeded by isolating 145 offenders, studying family and environment backgrounds, and tracing possible inducements to crime to their remotest origins.

In its entirety, the report discloses a picture of organic deterioration rather than discernible crime causes such as economic factors, liquor, lax enforcement or lack of parental control. Its emphasis is on crime prevention. In the introduction, the authors of the report say:

"We have found no unit causes of crime and recommend no unit cures. This report stresses individual study and treatment, but it recognizes that every individual leads a social existence and that both the treatment and prevention of crime must consider, not alone the individual transgressor, but must also treatment for the entire group of which he is a functioning unit, whether it be family, gang or neighborhood. Further, it recognizes the necessity of carrying with the adverse social and economic conditions whose influence are constant factors in criminal careers, as well as in the lives of many otherwise wholesome citizens."

INCLUDES RURAL STUDY
The study included a study of two rural New York counties. In both this study and that of the 145 separate cases, the authors carefully refrain from wide generalizations, the above summary of findings having evidential value to the degree in which they may be typical of national conditions. The report finds that in the rural areas "there is every indication that much liquor is being consumed. This tendency finds its reflection in a great many misdemeanor cases. There appears to be much drinking among the young in the more rural county in the area."

"The social world of the child" is touched on as follows:

"Children everywhere seek to escape the dominance of the older generation. The revolt of youth is no fanciful tale, but a grim reality, both to fretting youth, tired of adult restrictions, and to bewildered adults who wail 'what will we do next?' To the extent that the revolt is but the normal process of growing up, one can but sympathize with both generations and accept the conflict as inevitable, in a society that has lost its reverence for authority and the old traditions."

On the dilemma of parents, the report says:

"Here is a problem. What chance has the mere advice of a behavior guidance expert against the opposed philosophy of life of two parents? Even PARENTS DISAGREE

Not only do parents disagree, but authors, teachers, psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers disagree. Parents have no uniform social code of right or wrong."

As to the restraining and corrective forces of religion, the report says:

"The conditions of this country support the common observation that the rural church is in a decline. Outside of the cities, many churches are being closed for lack of attendance, and in the villages they do not seem to succeed in integrating their work with the social needs of the people to any extent."

Quoting statistics to show that criminal takings total $3,520,000,000 in the United States every year, the report comments on crime waves as follows:

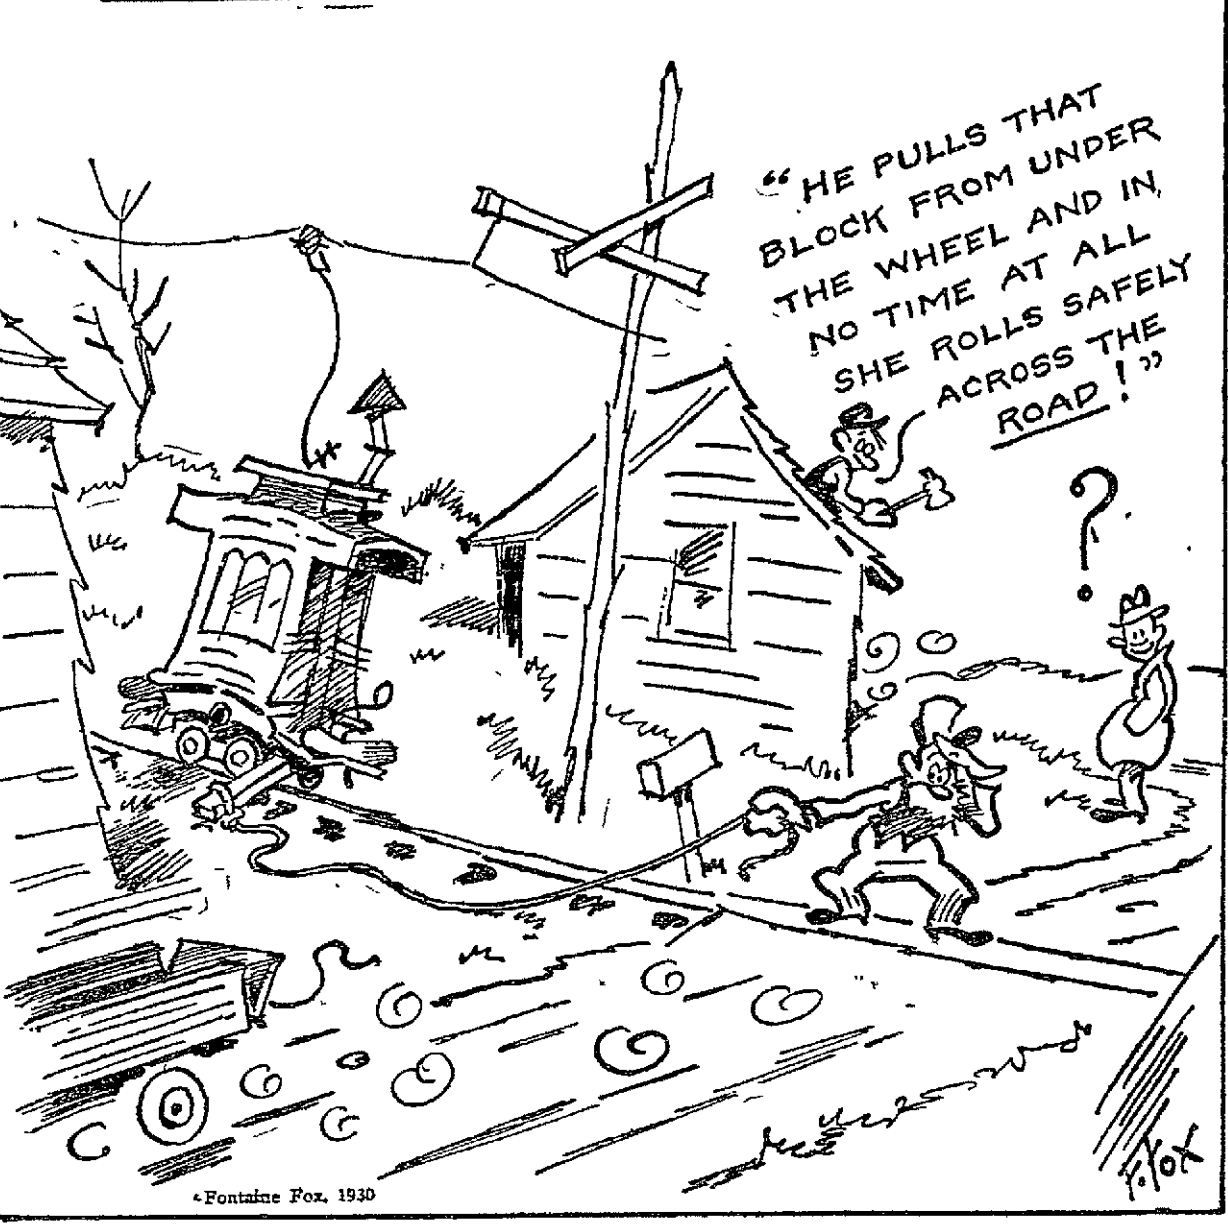

"The newspapers print daily stories dealing with 'crime waves' which give the impression that there are tremendous fluctuations in the degree of lawlessness of our citizens. As a matter of fact, this is not true. Estimates made by criminologists of the proportion of the population habitually engaged in crime vary only slightly, some placing the figure at one per cent and others between one and two per cent."

MAN NEVER SLEEPS
Trenton, N. J. — Albert Herpin, 78, has never closed his eyes in sleep as long as he can remember. That is his story, and he sticks to it. Time and again people have "bet" themselves to watch him, but he has never been caught taking as much as a wink of sleep in the 73 years he has lived here. He says he has never had a dream, never been aroused by an alarm clock, and has never been awakened by any mortal.

With a record of cigarettes from 1890 to 1929, he has smoked nearly 12,000,000 the last year alone to establish a new record for the longest of interval between one and two per cent."

RAILROADS COME TO REALIZE NEED OF RADIO DEVICES

Adopt Equipment as Means of Maintaining Communication

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA)—America's railroads are the last of the great industries to awaken to the realization that radio can serve them—but not yet in the entertainment of passengers.

As means of maintaining communication between both ends of freight trains, to supplant the rather primitive hand-signaling system, the railroads finally have determined that the short waves are practicable. They still are insistent, however, that the installation of radio receiving sets on passenger trains is impracticable and uneconomical at this time.

In nearly all European countries the railroads have adopted radio receivers as virtual standard equipment in passenger trains. Canadian railroads have been radioized, with both the Canadian National and the Grand Trunk offering their passengers the choice of several broadcast programs while the trains are annihilating distance at the rate of a mile a minute.

MOSTLY EXPERIMENTAL
But in this country only a few of the roads, notably the Great Northern and the Chicago Milwaukee have installed receiving sets on certain of their trains. These, it is understood, are largely experimental.

The American Railway association announced today that it had determined that radio "signal" contacts between crews in the cabooses and locomotive cabs of freight trains, are practicable. No mention was made of the use of radio receiving sets.

"Up to the present time," the association stated, "means of communication between crews at the front and rear of freight trains has been difficult, being principally through the use of hand signals, which is not always a satisfactory method, especially in times of inclement weather or when trains stop on curves. By means of short wave radio sets located in the caboose and locomotive cab, it has now been found possible to keep both ends of a train in constant communication, which will not only add further to safety in train operation, but also will eliminate many delays."

USED AT HUMP YARDS
The use of radio as a means of expediting communication has also been found to be practical at "hump" yards, where cars are classified and made up into trains. A study of communication by means of radio between shore stations and tugboats or other harbor craft used in railway service in New York harbor is also being made, but so far no final report has been submitted to the telegraph and telephone section.

At present there are no facilities set aside for the type of short wave communication proposed by the railroads. There are, however, experimental and "emergency" channels, upon which the federal radio commission allows power companies to operate only in emergencies. About a year ago the commission did set aside facilities for such railroad communication but withdrew them after determining that the railroads might do without them. For this type of communication only very low power is necessary, and it seems certain that the authorities will again make the facilities available.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU
"LIBRA"

If October 15th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 8:30 a. m. from noon to 1 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11:15 a. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9:00 p. m.

There are many elements of danger revealed in the astrological portents of this date. The influence of others, and not your own actions, may defeat many of your purposes. Do not take physical risks! Domestic changes! Travel likely, but not advisable.

The child born on this October 15th will have a generous disposition, much warmth of heart and sympathy. More promise is shown than performance, as it will wish to achieve its ambitions without too much effort or sacrifice. It should be safeguarded by a good education.

You have an intensely practical nature, and apparently an intensely unemotional one—the former is a fact, but the latter is more of a pose. Your mind is a concrete and a skeptical one, and you demand proof. You have an even temperament, and your days are pretty well spent without worry or emotional storms. You are slightly more of a pessimist than an optimist, and are always ready for whatever happens—good or bad.

With sound sense and good judgment at the throat, you seldom run into a ditch. In times of emergency, you are very cool and collected, and you do your best thinking.

As you are very undemonstrative in your affections, you are often

Don't Lose Hope Because You Have a Blood Disorder

Sometimes sufferers from blood disorders abandon hope. Often it seems they are beyond human aid. No matter how many remedies have failed, never consider your case hopeless. Restoria has lifted many out of the depths of despair. To infected or impoverished blood may be ascribed so many trying ailments. Thus Restoria, a compound of vegetable alternative elements intended for the rebuilding of the blood, is considered an effective treatment by the many who have used it. There are many indications of infected blood. You may have more skin blemishes, or perhaps swellings, and annoying eruptions, or you may have crippling and depressing diseases like Rheumatism, Neuritis, or Anemia. Whatever the outward signs, treat the blood with Restoria. Thousands have used it, and its increasing popularity indicates that it must have benefited its users. No matter how long you have been suffering from ailments due to infected or impoverished blood or what remedies you have used, you owe it to yourself to give Restoria a Vegetable Alternative trial. # HOLIDAY CLEANS SLATE FOR NEXT STEP IN STOCKS

Public Isn't Hurt by Last Week's Crash, Financiers Report

BY F. H. RICHARDSON
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
New York—(CPA)—Wall Street looked upon the holiday Monday as a full stop, which lent emphasis to the unsettlement in the security markets of last week and in effect, cleaned the slate for the next lesson. What this lesson will be depends much on the outcome of many important developments scheduled during the next few days at home and abroad.

The public was not hurt in last week's crash as it was in that of last autumn. The public, as a matter of fact, has behind it a large backlog of savings and a new sense of discretion. It could, if so minded, send security prices upward with irresistible force. That it is minded to invest heavily either in common stocks or in bonds at present is doubtful. But the current week, while not likely to see an abrupt upturn, may witness a more cheerful light thrown on domestic and international affairs.

As anticipation of disaster almost always causes more unsettlement than the event itself, it may well be that the reopening of the reichstag Monday will clear up the German situation.

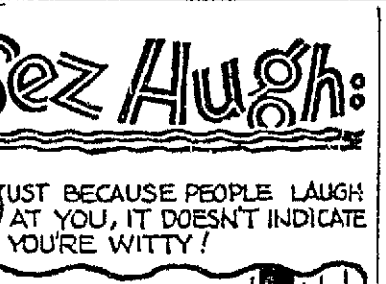

Whether or not Chancellor Brüning sees his way clear to retaining office without again dissolving the reichstag, at least the tension will be eased for the time being.

SEE-BRAZIL DECISION
In Brazil, the next day or so will probably see a trend either for or against the revolutionary forces and give an indication as to the ultimate outcome. More reliable information in connection with events in Brazil would do much to improve sentiment. The world's markets seem more afraid of a long and costly civil war in Brazil than of a rebel victory which, as in the case of Argentina and other South American states, would not have reputation of debts as a necessary sequel.

England, in the next few days, will know the worst of the imperial conference discussions—or the best. Chancellor Snowden's strong stand for the labor government's vowed opposition to protection, while calculated to engender some economic unrest within the British empire, will do little to change existing world trade conditions. Also, the British parliament meets soon and Britain's immediate political fate will become clearer.

At home, in the securities market the large short interest that the last week has built up is a potential bullish factor once the ball is started rolling.

PURCHASES INCREASE
In this direction, the increase in commodity purchases by manufacturers in the past week or two is a factor likely to cause some immediate improvement in commodity markets. The week will see publication of both the British and American foreign trade figures. These have been discounted as bearish. Whether they will be as bad as the market predicted is questionable. The department of commerce will issue its monthly business analysis on Wednesday.

A more definite view of the situation will be reflected in dividend actions to be taken during the week. A long list of directors' meetings is on the calendar, including such important companies as Allis Chalmers, Gillette Safety Razor, Cities Service, Vanadium, International Harvester, Louisville Gas and Electric and National Power and Light. Standard Oil of Ohio stockholders will vote on some new preferred stock financing. Advance Rumley stockholders are also to hold a special meeting. Annual meetings to be held include those of Distillers Corporation Seagrams Ltd., one of the largest of the Canadian liquor manufacturers Grishby-Gunow, Southern Railway and Skelly Oil.

LARGEST SEAPLANE
Berlin—A seaplane to rival the Dornier DOK is expected to be started at the Rumpel Motor Works here by May, 1931. It will be able to carry a pay load of 42,000 pounds and will transport 420 passengers and express baggage. It will have a wing spread of 289 feet, a length of 150 feet, and wing cord of 41 feet. The wing, all in one piece, will be 8 feet thick and will accommodate the passengers.

Heiress And Kidnaper Are Being Hunted In Missouri

Greenfield, Mo. —(CP)—Kidnaping of Mrs. Alma Wilson McKinley, 24-year-old heiress and expectant mother, stirred southwest Missouri today.

Longed friends joined officers of a score of cities and towns in a patrol of highways from the foothills of the Ozarks to the Missouri river, seeking a small masked man who abducted the girl last night from the ranch home of her father, Benton Wilson, oil millionaire.

The kidnaper, armed with a shotgun, sheriff Olin Killingsworth said, entered the Wilson home where Mrs. McKinley and her mother were alone. According to the sheriff, he demanded money, but was told there was none in the house. He then forced the girl to accompany him in the family car, after binding and gagging her mother. Mrs. Wilson freed herself after half an hour and notified officers.

The car was last reported seen at Aldrich, Mo., about twenty miles northeast of here. Observers said the machine, a sport coupe, was followed by another car.

Wilson and his two sons, Everett and Earl Wilson and the girl's husband, Harold McKinley, were in Kansas City with a load of cattle from the 4,000-acre Wilson estate when the kidnapping was perpetrated.

Rushing back to Greenfield Wilson offered a $2,000 reward for apprehension of the kidnaper and the return of his daughter.

Mrs. McKinley was graduated last spring from the University of Missouri, where her husband also was a student. In high school and at the university she won acclaim as a basketball player.

Wilson, who made his money in the oil fields of Oklahoma and then returned to Dade-co to buy the farm where he was born, is building an expensive home for his daughter and son-in-law.

FOR WAR!
London — A wireless telegraphy system that may revolutionize reconnaissance from the air is being tested in secret here. The Marconi company is testing a new apparatus which, when installed in a plane, will make it unnecessary for a pilot to return to his base before making a report. The pilot will make a sketch of enemy territory, place it in a cylinder, and it will then be flashed back to be reproduced in headquarters.

SEEK AIR PACT
Washington, D. C. — A reciprocal air navigation agreement is in force between the United States and Canada whereby civil aircraft of each country is allowed to enter territory of the other with an international pilot's license. Similar proposals have been offered to Great Britain, Irish Free State, Union of South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, France, Germany, Italy, Spain and the Netherlands.

BOND MART QUIET AS TRADING IS RESUMED

New York—(P)—The bond market was quiet at the resumption of trading today. Fractional changes were the rule in contrast to the wide movements last week. Although the

In the domestic section, most of the weakness was in stock privilege and speculative bonds, and a few railroad issues that have been under pressure recently. The market for Foreign bonds was considerably improved. The upturn in South American and the narrow groove in which other issues moved suggested that

The principal piece of new financing was the $50,000,000 issue of 60-day treasury bills, at a 1.75 per cent per annum discount. Three municipal issues were publicly offered. While the volume of new financing in last week for domestic corporations was comparatively small, the volume pet for a large amount of offerings by railroad, utility and industrial corporations during the fall is good, according to reports in bond circles.

A $3,000,000 Mid-West States Utilities 5½ per cent mortgage issue has been approved by the Arkansas Railroad commission. The Continental Oil company, formerly the Marsland Oil company, has called for redemption on Dec. 15, 1930, the end series 5 per cent gold notes of the Maryland company.

WISCONSIN BANKS REPORT SMALLER LOANS, DEPOSITS

National Banks in State, However, Indicate Increases

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—The banks of Wisconsin, like those of the country as a whole, showed smaller loans and smaller deposits on June 30, 1930 than on Dec. 31, 1929, according to a report made public today by the Federal Reserve board.

National banks in Wisconsin, however, showed increases in both loans and investments and in deposits in June as compared with December, the decline being entirely accounted for by the state banks.

All national and state banks and all private banks under state supervision in Wisconsin reported loans and investments totaling $906,710,
000 on June 30 as against $917,092,
000 on Dec. 31. In June 835 banks reported and in December 960 banks reported. Loans including overdrafts amounted to $631,288,000 in June as against $654,737,000 in December. Investments totaled $275, 422,000 in June and $262,355,000 in December.

Deposits in Wisconsin banks amounted to $889,010,000 in June as against $894,209,000 in December.
Reductions and bills payable amounted to $9,223,000 in June as
against $18,350,000 in December.

National banks in Wisconsin reported $425,740,000 in loans and investments in June as against $419, 141,000 in December. Loans, including overdrafts, amounted to $395,
394,000 in June and $303,347,000 in December. Investments amounted to $128,346,000 in June as against $115,794,000 in December. In June, 155 such banks reported from Wisconsin as against 157 in December.

These banks reported a total of $401,349,000 in deposits, exclusive of interbank deposits, in June as against $394,699,000 in December.
Reductions and bills payable amounted to $1,976,000 in June as
against $5,654,000 in December.
The 781 state banks and private banks under state supervision in Wisconsin reported loans and investments amounting to $492,970,000 in June as against $497,951,000 reported in December by 803 such banks.
Loans amounted to $235,894,000 in June and $351,890,000 in December.
Investments amounted to $147,076,
000 in June and $146,561,000 in December.

These banks reported deposits amounting to $487,661,000 in June and $499,510,000 in December. Reductions and bills payable amounted to $7,247,000 in June and $12, 699,000 in December.

Television Seeks Higher Spot In Short Wave Band

New York —(AP)—Television is looking for a place higher in the short wave bands.

Experiments which have been under way for the last two years or so have definitely established that transmission of radio pictures is more successful between 150 and 185 meters than in other sections of the wave spectrum. This is particularly true where the intention is to cover the local area.

Another serious problem that has been encountered is the matter of interference. A big share of this is due to the harmonics of broadcast stations. The harmonic of a station is a sort of reflected copy of the program being sent out on the regular wave, but which can be heard on certain short wave channels, sometimes in as many as two or three places.

Some broadcast stations have harmonics which land in the television experimental channels and cause a considerable messing up of the transmitted pictures.

These outlined difficulties are some of the problems which have confronted the engineers of the Jenkins laboratories in Jersey City, N. J., according to D. E. Replogle,
president.

At present the laboratory is using the wavelength in the vicinity of 107 meters for its television transmissions. In that band has been encountered considerable trouble from broadcast harmonics that apparently cannot be overcome.

One suggestion advanced is a proposed trade with amateur radio phone users, some of whom have assignments around 130 meters. This suggestion is that these amateurs agree to take the bands from 100 to 120 meters and that television go into the space from 150 to 185 meters.

Another matter pointed out by Mr. Replogle is the need of high power in television experimental broadcasts. To deliver a more reliable signal he believes that at least 20 kilowatts be permitted in most every instance. He also believes that it is advisable to use only clear channels for pictures.

BYRD CAN'T ATTEND DINNER OF SOCIETY

Admiral Byrd, who will appear in Appleton on Nov. 19 under the auspices of the Appleton Woman's club, will not be a guest at the dinner given by the Appleton Philathetic society in Appleton that evening. Regretting his inability to accept the cordial invitation of the society, Admiral Byrd stated in a letter to Mayor John Goodland, Jr., that because of his extremely strenuous lecture tour he is trying to avoid social engagements prior to his lectures. He said that he had a great deal of work of a scientific nature to carry on, and that this taxes him to the very limit of his time and capacity.

Admiral Byrd will give an account of his Antarctic expedition at Lawrence Memorial chapel the evening of Nov. 19.

EASY TO LIGHT

London—Life is getting easier and easier. The latest invention to take some of the work off a man's hands is a cigarette which doesn't need the use of a match or cigarette lighter.
It is tipped with a special preparation which, when rubbed gently along the side of the package, lights at once.

LIONS PLAN TO AID OUTAGAMIE-CO BLIND

Survey Read to Club Directors Reveals 74 Blind Persons in County

The blind problem in Outagamieco was discussed by Lions club directors last week and plans were made for helping those persons in the county who need aid.

A review of the blind situation in the county was presented in a report by E. E. Cahall, chairman of the blind committee. It was prepared by blind workers in the county. The report reveals that there are 74 blind persons in the county and that many of them are in a possition to help themselves. The report gave the individual status of each of the blind persons.

The club is considering holding community gatherings at the armory this winter, the proceeds from which will go to the blind fund for persons needing help. The committee working on the fund raising project is composed of A. G. Meating, chairman, George Johnson, E. E.
Cahall, E. C. Moore and Gus A. Sell.
Directors also decided to permit
J. R. Whitman, president, and E.
L. Madison, secretary to attend a meeting of state Lions' club presidents and secretaries at Milwaukee
Oct. 20.
